WITHDRAWAL OF MARINES DEMANDED BY
GEN. SANDINO

In Message Indirectly Delivered to U. S. Senate, Nicaraguan Insurgent Leader Protests Against Invasion

THREE CONDITIONS FOR PEACE NAMED

Note Sent Through Carleton Beals Denies He Will Be Responsible for Lives of American Officials.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, March 15.—The occasional pleas in Congress for withdrawal from Nicaragua of the United States Marines now hunting Gen. Sandino, the Nicaraguan insurgent leader, in an effort to restore peace have been reinforced by one from Sandino himself.

In a message indirectly delivered to the Senate, the Nicaraguan leader declares that unless the Marines are taken away he could "not be responsible for the safety of any North American official resident in Nicaraguan territory."

Replacement of Adolfo Diaz, now president of Nicaragua, by some Nicaraguan not a candidate for the office and supervision of the coming elections in that country by Latin-American representatives instead of the Marines are two other conditions for peace laid down by Sandino.

His message, together with correspondence between himself and Rear Admiral David F. Sellers, commander of the United States special service squadron in Nicaragua, relating to peace negotiations, were made public yesterday after their submission to Chairman Borah of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee by Lewis S. Gannett, associate editor of the Nation. Borah had no comment to make on the documents, which were brought to this country for Sandino by Carleton Beals, special correspondent of the magazine.

Text of Sandino's Message.
Signed, "For the fatherland and liberty, A. C. Sandino," the message addressed to the Senate said: "In the name of the Nicaraguan people I protest against the continued barbarism of your forces in my country, such as the recent total destruction of the town of Quilich, I shall never recognize a government imposed by a foreign power. I demand the immediate withdrawal of the invading troops. Otherwise from this date on I cannot be responsible for the safety of any North American official resident in Nicaraguan territory."

Admiral Sellers, in the documents disclosed for the first time, wrote Sandino, Jan. 20, warning him that the United States forces were preparing to take up his trail to "insure complete peace under conditions which will enable the peaceful citizens of Nicaragua to enjoy their families and properties the measure of security they have a right to expect."

Opposes "Foreign Invasion."
Admiral Sellers said that the United States was entitled to the right of self-defense in the case of the invasion of Nicaragua and that "today it is the entire Nicaraguan people who fight to drive out the foreign invasion from my country."

The documents also contained a letter addressed by Sandino to the Pan-American Congress which recently met in Havana protesting against the "illegal" invasion of Nicaragua and attacking the "hypocrisy of Coolidge, who speaks of good will and sends in army to murder Nicaraguans."

All the correspondence above referred to as well as an interview with Sandino, given to Beals, are printed on Page 15 of the Post-Dispatch today.

BORAH TO TRY TO RAISE FUND TO REPAY SINCLAIR

Will Ask Republicans to Contribute $160,000, With Which to Refund the Oil Bond Gift.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, March 15.—Senator Borah of Idaho announced definitely late today that he would seek to raise a fund of $160,000 from Republican party members, with which to pay back the contribution of that size made to the party by Harry F. Sinclair, lessee of the Teapot Dome naval oil reserve.

In a statement, the Idaho Senator declared that, after consulting with friends today, he had decided to make an effort to raise the money. He has already received promises of more than $50,000, he said.

"It does not seem to me," he declared, "that it is a matter about which we can delay action. To hesitate is almost as bad as to not act at all. Not over a dozen men, perhaps, know of this transaction until recently, but it is now known."

If he raised the money, Borah said he would deal directly with Sinclair, turning it over to the oil operator.

Borah had a conference with William M. Butler, chairman of the Republican National Committee, suggesting that the Sinclair donations be returned. Butler replied that, in his opinion, any restitution of these funds devolved upon those who accepted them.

FOCH SAYS FORMER WIFE STOLE CHILD

In Temperamental Period on Stand He Ascribes Troubles to Ex-Mother-in-Law.

By Leased Wire From the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.
NEW YORK, March 15. — Dirk Foch, Dutch conductor of symphony orchestras, put his temperament on exhibition yesterday in the witness box before Supreme Court Justice Levy.

The last thing he did before leaving the box was to stand up, accuse his divorced wife, Mrs.
Consuelo Flowerston Foch, of stealing his 4-year-old daughter, Nina, and then, pointing to Mrs. Foch's mother, blamed his troubles on "that hyena." Leaning over to the stenographer, he urged, "Put that down."

His former mother-in-law winced but said nothing. She is Mrs. Alexander Flowerston, who lives with Mrs. Foch and Nina.
Foch is suing for custody of the child, contending she was awarded to him when he divorced his wife at the Hague, Holland, in October, 1924.

Foch squirmed under cross-examination by Charles E. Le Barbier, Mrs. Foch's attorney, and several times exploded with excitement, throwing out his hands and exclaiming, "I object against that." He became visibly and vocally perturbed at the translations of several documents in Dutch, his most frequent sign of astonishment being, "Oh, Le, la, la."

When Le Barbier asked him if he had met a certain detective in a speakeasy, the musician protested, saying, "I am not accustomed to being in speakeasies." Then he shot at Le Barbier, "Are you?"
Foch said that in Vienna, in 1924 his mother-in-law created a scene and before leaving his apartment picked up an oak chair and smashed it on a table. Denying Mrs. Foch's accusations that he beat her, he countered that once she threw the top of a brass inkwell at him, it missing his head by a few inches, and that again she hit him in the back with a glass tumbler, and clipped him in the elbow with a brush, opening a blood vessel.

RAIDS ON COMMUNISTS IN JAPAN

Police Make Wholesale Arrests as Sequel to Election Handbills.

TOKIO, March 15.—Wholesale arrests of extremists were reported from all parts of Japan today.
They were the result of investigations conducted since the general election, when handbills attacking the present form of government were seized.

The police raided Communist headquarters here. They also occupied the offices of the proletarian newspaper, Musan Shimbun.
Twelve arrests were made in the Saita district. Thirty persons were seized at Osaka, including Prof.
Ikucovama, leader of the Farmer-Peasant party's left wing.

Committee Before Commission at Geneva.

By the Associated Press.

GENEVA, March 15.—With a newcomer, Turkey, among them, 24 countries, including two non-members of the League of Nations—the United States and Soviet Russia—met here this morning to renew their efforts to get a practical start toward disarmament. The agenda of the commission comprised a report of the Security Committee and the Russian proposal to wipe out all armaments and means of producing them.

Jonkhoeur J. Loudon of Holland, who presided, opened the session by saying that security pacts were the only means of preparing for disarmament. He declared the Russian proposal failed to take into account the present state of mind throughout the world.

The disarmament convention dawned up last year, but not completed, also was on the agenda for a second reading. Discussion of it was postponed until Monday, however, on motion of Maxim Litvinoff, head of the Soviet delegation, in order to allow time for the arrival of the head of the Turkish delegation who is not due until then.

Count von Bernstorff of Germany announced the German delegation would push a resolution imposing full publicity in regard to all armaments as the starting point for their reduction.

The commission then adjourned until tomorrow afternoon.

GIBSON AND WILSON HEAD U. S. MISSION Special Cable to the Post-Dispatch and New York World.

Copyright, 1928, by the Press and Fulfiller World and Post-Dispatch.

GENEVA, March 15.—Twenty-four government, including Russia, Turkey and the United States, have delegates in Geneva today for what may be a final effort to straighten out the League of Nations disarmament plans.

Russian delegates declared they expected to force a showdown on whether the League really wants disarmament or merely limitation of arms. Therefore, they said, they would insist on action on the total disarmament treaty submitted several months ago by Maxim Litvinoff, head of the Soviet delegation.

The Turkish delegation is headed by Foreign Minister Tewfik Rushdi Bey. The American delegation consists of Ambassador Hugh S. Gibson, Minister Hugh R. Wilson, Admiral Andrew Long, Commander Train and Major Strong and Greeley. Admiral Hilary Jones will arrive later.

Three distinct possibilities are envisaged at the meeting. First, the Russians are reported to have a tentative nonaggression treaty, resembling Secretary of State Kellogg's outlawry of war proposal. The French, who sabotaged naval disarmament through their opposition to "category" classification during former meetings are understood to be ready to renounce their demand for "global naval disarmament," thereby coming into line with the American, English and Japanese policies.

It is repeatedly rumored that the French, at England's behest, will propose a separate naval limitations conference to be called soon. This would seek to recover the ground lost at the Geneva conference last year.

WASHINGTONCOAL CAMP CLEANUP PRECEDED INSPECTION

Letter Introduced at Senate Hearing Is Purported Order to Foremen.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, March 15.—A memorandum purporting to be an order from the Pittsburgh Coal Co. to its mine superintendents "to clean up all unsightly conditions" prior to the recent inspection of its mines by the Senate subcommittee was introduced in the Senate investigation of the bituminous industry today by Harry T. Brundage, a reporter for the St. Louis Star.

Brundage, who went through the mining territory recently for his paper, said he had paid $25 to a mine employee for the letter, which read:

"To all mine superintendents:

"The United States Senate Investigating Committee is now visiting the Pittsburgh district. Clean up all unsightly conditions. Keep our police in the background. Avoid all arrests. Instruct our men to keep out of trouble.

"If the Committee desires to question any of our employees, see to it that you present men you can trust and who can be depended upon to give the right kind of answers. If you are examined by the Committee, do not answer any questions you think might be harmful to our interests. The company will protect you.

"The company has mailed a spirited letter to each individual employee. If you know of any unsatisfactory condition in company camps or barracks, see that it is eliminated at once.

"The Pittsburgh Coal Co."

The reporter would not vouch for the authenticity of the document but said he had obtained it only after an employee had told him that conditions had recently "been cleaned up." This was while the Senate subcommittee was in that section, said Brundage, adding that he had informed Senators Gooding and Wheeler of the matter at the time.

Coal Concern Denies Order for Cleanup Before Inquiry.

By the Associated Press.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., March 15.—Officers of the Pittsburgh Coal Co. today denied that the concern had circulated an order to "clean up" in its nonunion mining camps shortly before the Senate Investigating Committee arrived.

"The letter was not written or sent out by any official of the company," officers of the concern said. "If Mr. Brundage paid $25 for this letter, he bought a counterfeit document. No such instructions were ever issued or contemplated to be issued by the company."

LOWDEN GETS 4 VOTES, HOOVER 2, FROM ST. LOUIS

Republicans Choose Delegates to National Convention in 10th, 11th and 12th Districts.

With the election yesterday in St. Louis of six delegates to the Republican National Convention in Kansas City, June 12, there had been chosen 24 of the 32 district delegates to which Missouri is entitled. Of the 24 the Lowden organization counts on the support of 17 and the Hoover forces seven. There have been instructions in only three districts, the Eighth, Ninth and Fourteenth, all being for Lowden.

In the three St. Louis districts yesterday Hoover delegates were chosen in the Tenth, and Lowden delegates in the Eleventh and Twelfth, there being active fights in the Tenth and Eleventh districts, due more to local contents for control than to the presidential contest.

Real Fight in the Tenth. The real fight of political significance in the St. Louis district conventions was in the Tenth, where the Hoover forces elected two delegates, seemingly without interference from Collector Koehn, a member of the Lowden campaign committee in Missouri, and generally credited with controlling the city wards in the district. It had been agreed before the convention that former Congressman Cleveland A. Newton, the Hoover manager in Missouri, should go as delegate, but there was no agreement as to the second delegate.

Circuit Clerk John Schmoll, also a Hoover supporter, was an applicant, as was also State Senator Richard Ralph of St. Louis County. Mayor Miller's influence, evidenced in the convention by the activity of Robert J. Kratky, was thrown to Ralph, but there was no repayment by the Koehn group to Miller in return for his action a month ago in endorsing Henry S. Caulfield, the Koehn candidate, for the nomination for the governorship.

The vote was close and was decided by the seating of Schmoll's delegates from the Thirteenth Ward instead of those chosen as contestants by supporters of Herman Krah, the ward committeeman. If Krah's delegates had been seated Ralph would have been chosen.

As it is Schmoll was elected a delegate and St. Louis County, with a heavy Republican vote, will have no representation in the national convention.

In the Eleventh District, Henry L. (Hank) Weeke fought with Nat Goldstein for control and won. They formerly were close personal and political friends.

The Twelfth District convention ran smoothly and finished its work in 20 minutes.

The St. Louis delegates and alternates elected were: Tenth district—Former Congressman Cleveland A. Newton and Circuit Clerk John Schmoll, delegates, and Mrs. William T. Nardin, 6233 Westminster place, and Mrs. Marie Northcutt, 4133 Farlin avenue, alternates.

Eleventh district—Henry L. Weeke and J. M. McIntyre, a Negro clerk in the office of the Collector of Water Rates, delegates, and Mrs. John A. Wiske, 5203 Palm avenue, and Mrs. Dora Luetkenholder, 1316A North Market street, alternates.

Twelfth district—Congressman L. C. Dyer and Justice of the Peace Critchfield, delegates, and a Negro, delegates, and Miss Lenore Kramer, an assistant prosecuting attorney, and Mrs. Carrie Tillman, a Negro, alternates.

In each of the districts resolutions were adopted endorsing the national and state Republican administrations, and endorsing Dr. E. B. Clements for re-election as national committeeman and Mrs. Grace Semple Burlington for re-election as national committeewoman.

Have You Got Catarrh?

Try Dr. Blosser's Medical Cigarettes for Next Attack

Nasal catarrh is not only disagreeable and offensive, but it will lead to serious trouble. That inflamed condition of the mucous membranes of the air passages of the head, nose and throat may spread to the point where it is incurable and a danger to life.

Dr. Blosser's Cigarettes are composed of medicinal herbs, flowers and berries. The warm smoke vapor is inhaled into the affected air passages and will go where sprays, douches and salves cannot reach. They contain no tobacco or opium, and being harmless, are used by children, as well as adults.

If you suffer from any catarrhal trouble, catarrhal deafness, hoarseness, asthma, hay fever, bronchial irritations, or are subject to frequent colds, get a pocket-size package of Dr. Blosser's Cigarettes, and prove for yourself their pleasant, beneficial effects.

YOUR ST. LOUIS

How Well Do You Know It?

THE NORTH ST. LOUIS
PLANING MILL COMPANY

The North St. Louis Planing Mill Co., manufacturers of "H-Grade" millwork, was established in St. Louis in February, 1893, at their present location, Grand Blvd. and Carter avenue.

This firm is the manufacturer of special millwork, i. e., sash, doors, cabinet work, moldings, interior trim, etc., and its products provide attractive adornments in many beautiful homes, churches, schools, municipal and office buildings, not only in St. Louis, but out of town as well.

"H-Grade" products are produced in a factory which is modern in every detail, the equipment of which represents some of the newest and most efficient types of wood-working machinery. This plant boasts a modern dry-kill, and only the best of lumber properly treated is used in the production of millwork bearing the finest finish.

The policy of this concern is to live up to the name which it has chosen for its products, is made possible through the union cooperation of its employees, some of whom have been connected with the institution for more than twenty-five years.

Every day this space will be devoted to some one particular manufacturing plant or industry which is contributing to the dynamic growth of St. Louis.

SCENE FROM OLD SPAIN PUT ON AT EXPOSITION

Bull Ring Portrayed, With Typical Music, at Woman's Show in Coliseum.

A scene from Old Spain, with a "bull" matadors and toreadors, and Spanish ladies draping their mantillas over the boxes lining the "ring," featured last night's Spanish-Mexican program at the Woman's National Exhibition, being held this week at the Coliseum. A Filipino orchestra and a Mexican band furnished music. Spantards and Mexicans in national costume gave native songs and dances. Angel Casarin Jr., Mexican Consul here, spoke on "The Women of Mexico." The display of approximately 200 paintings by Missouri artists, which continues to attract a large crowd of visitors, is a preliminary step towards the organization of a Missouri Art League. The organization will be perfected at a dinner of visiting and local artists Saturday night at the Artists' Guild.

The display at the Coliseum includes paintings by artists from all over the State as well as some from former Missourians now living elsewhere. Among the exhibits by St. Louisans are: "The Cathedral Spirit" and "Torch of Faith," by Tom H. Kautz; "The Landmark" and "Harvest," by O. E. Berninghaus; and "Ozark Sunshine" and "October Oaks," by Frank Nuderscher.

Eight paintings already have been sold, according to Mrs. Frederick B. Hall, chairman of fine arts of the Missouri Federation of Women's Clubs, who was instrumental in bringing the exhibit here.

Several pieces of sculpture in bronze and plaster are shown with the paintings. Mrs. Mona Niehardt, wife of the literary critic of the Post-Dispatch, has on exhibition two portrait busts and a small heart-shaped plaque on one side of which is outlined the figure of a woman. Her work is in plaster. The portraits are of her husband and of Mrs. John E. Stoker.

Tomorrow morning there will be a lecture on the oil paintings of the late L. S. Parker of Jefferson City, who received wide recognition for his paintings of the State Capitol. After the exposition, Parker's works will be hung in the rotunda of the Public Library.

Khartoum's African Film Safe.
CAIRO, Egypt, March 15.—The loss of films taken on the African hunting expedition of George Eastman, Rochester (N. Y.) camera manufacturer, in the train fire yesterday, was slight, Dr. Alfred Kasser, a member of the party, said today. It had been reported that all the films were destroyed. Kasser said with the exception of two rolls of exposed films, the others had been shipped separately from Khartoum.

Fat Went in this Easy Way

Ask Slender Folks to Tell You

For 20 years, slender women have been telling others the easy, pleasant way to reduce. It is the right way, based on a modern discovery made by able scientific men. It has proved so efficient that for two decades it has held the top place in this field. Now you can see the results wherever you look. Slender figures are the usual, fat is the exception.

That right way is embodied in Marmola prescription tablets. It is a substance employed in the body to regulate metabolism. Its purpose is to turn food into fuel and energy, rather than into fat. There are no secrets about it. The formula appears in every box, and the reasons for results. Thus users know just why it acts, and they have no fear of harm. The use requires no abnormal exercise or diet, though moderation helps. People simply take four tablets daily until the weight comes down to normal in a natural way.

Consider what Marmola has done for so many and so long. See what it has done in your own circle, because one user tells others. Now learn what it means to you. Watch the new beauty that it brings, the new vitality and health. You owe that to yourself. Order it now—before you forget it. Don't longer suffer an abnormal figure when so many have found a corrective.

Marmola prescription tablets are sold by all druggists at 40¢ per box. If your druggist is out, he will mail them at once. MARMOLA

REED SAYS G. O. P. CORRUPTION HAS AROUSSED NATION

Senator, on Return to Capital From Speaking Tour, Declares Expose Will Be Chief Campaign Topic.

By the Associated Press. WASHINGTON, March 15.—Senator Reed of Missouri returned to Washington yesterday from a 24-day speaking tour to the Pacific Coast, confident the Democrats have all prospects of a successful presidential campaign.

The issue, he reiterated, is corruption which he contends cannot be dissociated from the management of the Republican party. The American public, he believes, is thoroughly aroused and can be depended upon to render its verdict in the November election.

After a 10-day stay here Reed again will take to the road, going first to High Point, N. C., to speak on the night of March 25. The next day he will address University of North Carolina students in the afternoon and at a night meeting will speak in Raleigh.

From North Carolina he will go to Wisconsin to speak on March 31 at Milwaukee and on April 1 at Madison. Beyond that he has no definite engagements. Tuesday he addressed the Kentucky Legislature.

Basis for Prediction. In conversation with newspapermen Reed based his prediction of Democratic success in November, provided the party "acts wisely and prudently," on popular feeling which he said he sensed in the West. Many Republicans told him, he said, that they were disgusted with disclosures, growing out of the Senate oil and elections investigations.

As the Missouri Senator sees it, the country is much more aroused over the corruption issue than in 1924. Since then, he pointed out, the courts have passed final judgment on the oil leases and "there is now a great volume of facts before the American people" that was not before them in the last presidential election.

Touching on Harry F. Sinclair's contribution of $250,000 in Liberty bonds toward the Republican campaign deficit, Reed said he was certain Will H. Hays, who received the securities from Sinclair, "knows where everyone of the Continental Trading Co.'s bonds went."

Attacks Mellon. He assailed Secretary Mellon for keeping silent about Hays' attempt to have him take some of the Sinclair bonds and also for the Treasury Secretary's part in the 1926 Senatorial primary and election in Pennsylvania.

He reiterated his charge that President Coolidge had not shown diligence in the light of Senate disclosures, and insisted those who have been seeking to disclose wrongdoing had received no word of encouragement from any official of the Coolidge administration.

Looking ahead to the possibility of a Senate inquiry into campaign funds this year, Reed said that while his committee undoubtedly could proceed under its present trust of power, it was not his present purpose to do so, at least not until the Senate specifically directed an investigation.

No Campaign for Himself. The Missouriian said he did not consider his trip a campaign tour for the presidency, although a decision already has been reached by his friends to enter him in the California and Wisconsin primaries, where he will be matched against Gov. Smith of New York and Senator Walsh of Montana.

In his speeches, he said, he made no attempt to further his own ends, but sought to expound "sound Democratic doctrine" for the good of the party.

Reed said he knew of no definite plans to enter his name in any primaries other than those of California and Wisconsin.

the Doctor says:
A COUGH is usually nature's effort to clear the air passages of germ-laden mucus that obstructs breathing. PERTUSSIN not only helps Nature to free you of excessive phlegm but it soothes the inflammation and relieves the cough spasms.

PERTUSSIN is freely given for irritating coughs with excellent results, and has been favorably known to practicing physicians and pharmacists for more than 20 years. If PERTUSSIN does not relieve your cough in a reasonable time, it is wise to consult your physician.

MAN, 56, HELD ON CHARGE OF CRIMINAL ASSAULT

B. J. Westernman Alleged to Have Enticed Four Young Girls to His Room.

Bernhard J. Westernman, 56 years old, a carpenter of 3515A Eastern avenue, was charged with criminal assault in two warrants issued by the Circuit Attorney's office yesterday on the complaint of parents of four young girls that Westernman had enticed their daughters to his room.

One of the girls is 9 years old, two are 12 and the fourth is 13. The oldest, according to police, rapped on Westernman's door to sell perfume and was lured into the house and later urged to bring other children with her. Police announced that Westernman confessed to one assault.

TWO YEARS IN PRISON FOR KEEPING DIAMOND

Auto Sales Manager, Who Was Convicted, Contended Ring Was a Gift.

Charged with embezzling a $700 diamond ring from a woman, Edward P. Doerer, salesman at the A. B. C. Auto Sales and Investment Co., 3521 Page boulevard, was found guilty by a jury and sentenced to two years in the penitentiary, in a sealed verdict opened today in Circuit Court. The verdict was reached last night.

The plaintiff was Mary Ellen Van Duser, 2912 Woodson road, St. Louis County. She testified she showed the ring to Doerer last April; that he had it made smaller to fit his finger and refused to return it after their friendship ceased. It was not a gift, she declared.

Doerer, in his own behalf, said she had given the ring to him as a permanent gift.

Contractor Finds Threatening Note.

William F. Moore, 2344 Menard street, contractor of a building being erected at 4470 Finney avenue, turned over to the police a note which he had found wrapped around a piece of gas pipe in front of the building yesterday. "You bin warned plenty times to get out now and go quick or you be sorry," it read.

YOUTH HURT SAVING GIRL DIES

By the Associated Press.
 COLUMBIA, Mo., March 15.—John D. Johnson, 23 years old, of Marshall, a law student in the University of Missouri, died here today of injuries suffered last Thursday night when he thrust Miss Jo Betts of Chickasha, Ok., from the path of a truck, which struck him. He was a son of R. D. Johnson, Prosecuting Attorney of Saline County.

EDUCATION BOARD HEAD THREATENS TO RESIGN POST

Ben Weidle, in Executive Session, Protests Against "Constant Bickerings"
Among Members.

Ben Weidle, president of the Board of Education, threatened to resign during the executive meeting last Tuesday night because of "constant bickering" among members of the board, it was learned today. He went so far as to write his resignation but was persuaded by other members to reconsider.

The executive session lasted about two hours and was considerably longer than the open session, which preceded it. Through the glass panels of the doors of the assembly room, where the board met, it could be seen that several members were in a heated debate, their voices sometimes being raised to such pitch that they were audible in the corridor outside the closed room.

While Weidle declined to discuss what had occurred during the executive session and refused to affirm the report that he had announced his intention of offering his resignation as a member and head of the board, he said he had been irritated for some time by what he characterized as "petty bickerings" of certain members of the board and "constant annoyance" of Superintendent of Instruction Maddox.

"While this bickering goes on the board can hardly be expected to do much constructive work," he said. "I, for one, am thoroughly sick of it."

Weidle declared that the "heckling" of Supt. Maddox disrupted the latter's department, adding that in fairness to Maddox board members should give him a chance to proceed with his work without annoyance. "He's only human," said the board president.

To further the plan of the board to begin its building program as soon as possible to aid in providing work for many men now unemployed, Building Commissioner Milligan yesterday began a trip of inspection of schools about the country. His survey will take him to Denver, Omaha, Chicago, Detroit, Cleveland, Buffalo, Pittsburg and Toronto. He will pay special attention to vocational training schools in preparation for his plans for such department for the new Central High building, which is to be erected on the site of the old school.

Before his departure Milligan was instructed to prepare plans for the rebuilding of the Columbia School, at St. Louis and Garrison avenues. This work probably will be the first started this year.

The building plans include work on nine buildings, some of which are to be erected and others extended. Approximately $1,000,000 is available for immediate construction.

Aims to Live 100

Keeps Youthful Fires Burning With Rare Remedy.

H. H. Von Schlick, manufacturer of Pittsburgh, Pa., tells how at 60
he feels as young as he did at 30.
He uses a remedy called Bulgarian Herb Tea, which I take at least once each week, and it not only keeps me healthy, but gives me the Power and Vigor of Youth.
Fever with constipation, rheumatism, sour, gassy stomach, intestinal poison or impure blood should use this pure vegetable remedy. It really is wonderful how soon you begin to feel years younger, and it costs so little at any drug store.
Why, just to break up a bad cold quickly, Bulgarian Herb Tea is worth ten times its price. The rich herb juices, taken hot at bedtime, heat the chilled blood, stimulate the circulation and cast the intestinal poisons out of your system.

SAYS U. S. HAS DONE LITTLE TO AID PEACE

Viscount Cecil Writes Nation Is Short on Participation in Own Proposals.

By the Associated Press
NEW YORK, March 15.—The United States is long on proposals looking toward world peace, but short on participation in her own plans, says Viscount Cecil, former British cabinet member, in an article in the April issue of Foreign Affairs.

Viscount Cecil compares the United States' attitude on the League of Nations, World Court and naval disarmament with that of the passers-by in the parable of the man who fell among thieves.
"Without serious inappropriateness it might be said of the passers-by, that they left the wounded man by the wayside because they had been educated to avoid entangling alliances," he wrote.

The English statesman asserts that he is reporting "for the benefit of the American people," comment which is prevalent among other nations.

Citing European criticism of the course of this country toward Armenia, he said:
"At the peace conference no nation was more eloquent than America on the rights of the Armenians and the need of enabling them to reestablish themselves on an independent, or at least autonomous, basis. America was insistent on that until it came time for offering the Armenians some kind of protection and support. From that she recoiled."

ROME, March 15.—At the end of this month a commercial passenger air line will be inaugurated between Trieste and Genoa. Fos-planes will make the trip twice a week across the Adriatic.

Youthful Pep Comes Back in Middle Age

Hundreds now regaining lost vigor and energy

Marvelous tonic guaranteed to bring results in 12 days

Why let old age come on before its time? There's no reason why middle-aged people can't be as active, energetic, and full of pep as young folks.
Hundreds have already learned the way to win back their youthful pep—the tireless energy and endless strength in which they once gloried.
A fine old prescription, known as Phospho-Cod, does the trick. Its success has been so astounding that Walgreen Drug Stores guarantee it absolutely. They make you this offer: If, in twelve days, Phospho-Cod doesn't double your pep and energy, they will refund what you pay for it.
Phospho-Cod brings you the pep-restoring, health-building peptones of cod livers, together with purifying extracts and hypophosphites which help throw off the poisons that weaken the system. And, it's a pleasure to take it, for it has a flavor like rare old wine.

Don't be satisfied another day without your full share of pep and energy. Get Phospho-Cod and let it bring you back to that condition of body and mind which makes you equal to any task, however big. Win back the strength and vigor which enable you to finish the day strong, with plenty left for the pleasures in life. Phospho-Cod is priced well within the means of everybody, and is on sale at all

SANDINO

Nicaraguan

His Strategy His C...

Roads Now Used of Mud Soon, a While Ener...

By CARLETON BEAL
A Staff Correspondent of "The Nation."

(This and other articles subject of Nicaragua, by Mr. Beal, are published by arrangement with "The Nation.")

MANAGUA, Feb. 28.—Gen. Augusto C. Sandino, who I saw a small town of adobe walled cities situated just Nueva Segovia line in the ment of Jinotega on the of the Yali range. It lies row past through which sparkling mountain streams.

On the other side of the shed, past the high crown, Tucupaca and a smiling valley, lies Jinotega, capital department. To the south range stretches toward the ments of Esteli and Leon, of this region is suitable active guerrilla warfare fanatically Liberal. We slightest show of success, gine's part, it would fl open revolt.

Here and there through this country are isolated bands, and further toward Honduras frontier, near oega, the local unit of the Constabulary a month ago ly took to the hills for.

Thus San Rafael is a point where the road leads south toward Jinotega, Ma and the much disputed Diaz where the combined Diaz and resident American ver—before the Stinson-agreement—unable to stay eral arms. Sandino has ch latter route.

Sandino in Known Coun And this is all known co him—the third time his co led ever this around. N. Rafael are still signs of t pits his forces dug for combats, and near Tucap the stone bulwarks along the San Rafael itself is strong Sandino and has knowa yore. Here it was that a he married in the little chuch on the main plaza, a local girl, Blanca Arana, a trap operator.

As I told in last week's I was finally brought in to a dino at 4 a. m., after an ex ride to the camp.

While we talked, his m quent gesture was the sh his forehead with a full movement; he invariably forward as he spoke; and twice he took to his feet, snuffing a point with his wha.

His utterance is rem fluid, precise, evenly mod his enunciation is absolute his voice rarely changes even when he is visibly into the subject matter. Not us ing the four and a half during which he talked continuously without pr from me, did he fumble, form of expression or wild hesitancy regarding the intended to discuss. His precisely, epigrammatic dard.

Ready to Face Probk The war was a major in the whole Nicaraguan that he dodged or that needed to raise. In milita I found him most as bit flamboyant and boast with a tendency to escape successes. However, he is highly astute, knows the well, and, with luck break can remain in the field ind

To keeping the moun country north and east at he cannot be cut off by rines or pene; and he cap back and forth along t where these mountains more settled areas, from clear to the Honduras, fr more than halfway across ma, enjoying a fairly shed supply, tapping rich rural sectors, and passing from point to point; the American troops to co same region, and main their line of communici Managua and Leon, mu over as he half again as Sandino's enemies, in hardship and a bit-or-m supply, as my previous demonstrated, will have greater advantage this re an. The American troops ing in an unfavorable clim then be completely isolat Managua, Leon and the one the roads become two t with mud—utterly im even on carts are blocke.

Rains Will Aid Sandi The marine mobilizati the long are from M group through Esteli, it will become even more and roundabout than new as Sandino will be comfort going what is, contrarily.

Of Making Many Books

JOHN G. NEIHARDT

A Hill of Vision

THE SEVENTH HILL. By Robert Hiltebeitel. (Viking Press.)

ROBERT HILTEBEITEL, whose seventh book of verse is noted here, has arrived so quietly in contemporary American literature that a great many people, capable of genuinely appreciating poetry, must still be unaware that he is here. But he is here beyond a doubt, and those who care to listen may catch the finely modulated singing voice of a rare, clairvoyant poet.

It is very good to escape from the market place of contemporary verse, where so many pathetic sounders, vain buffoons and loose-mouthed halfwits strive desperately to be noticed by the crowd, into the still, still upper air of this poet's hill of vision. Hiltebeitel is one of the relatively few poets of our day who have not been influenced in the least by the general mania to be odd and startling. At first glance he might be labeled as a mere follower in the footsteps of the older poets, for he has mastered form. But it is impossible for an appreciator of poetry to read many of his lines before realizing that the low-toned, realistic Hiltebeitel is not a follower, but an original. Undoubtedly the most notable thing in the present collection is the finely conceived and exquisitely wrought "Prophalamion" with which the book closes. It is too long to quote entire, and since it is organic, no fragment of it can be quoted with justice. Those who have been nauseated by the low view of sex that has become so common among the "advanced" set of verse writers, will rejoice to find this wise and truly lovely thing.

The following poem, which bears its title, will serve to reveal something of Hiltebeitel's quality in his latest moments:

XVIII.
In solemn pause the forest waits
The signal to return;
Within our rotting garden gates
The weeds of autumn burn.

Father to son we held our field
Against the steps of time, Knowing our weaker sons would
The land no longer yield.

Knowing how wind and sun and rain
Would fling their green stampedes
Where we have harvested the grain
Lie buried under weeds.

As to the poet's attitude towards life, the following sonnet is eloquent:

Always more riches, more enjoyment,
More, more, more.

SHEBA ONLY A MALAY,

TRADER HORN SAYS

African Adventurer, 75, Has New Theory on Solomon's Beautiful Guest.

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, March 15.—Alfred Aloysius Smith, "Trader Horn" who at the age of 75 left the peddling of pots and pans in South Africa to dictate a book which has been a best seller in this country for months, has a new slant on the Queen of Sheba which he expects to put into a book.

"The first beauty of her time was 'only a Malay lady,' our 'Mada-gascar' says the old African trader. He made his announcement at a tea given by the Literary Guild of America.

"She was a Malay lady, but came out of Madagascar to make her mark on men and history," he said. "I got it from the natives. They knew all about her and told me to straighten it. I found good solid proof of it, and you can lay that, on a totem pole later. Links up the old and new. You have to go to Peru, then to India and back to Africa to tie it all up; but it's there, it's there. I told John Galsworthy about it. I and John Galsworthy said 'Old man you've got it' and I have."

Then turning from the Queen of Sheba, the African explorer, he said: "I paddle my own canoe. I carry my own gun. I discovered more than Stanley did. Stanley discovered Livingstone, but he knew he was there all the time."

The old bewhiskered man, who resembles portraits of Walt Whitman and Longfellow, is very bitter against Stanley and suggests darkly that the fate of some of Stanley's white assistants on the expedition was not entirely due to natural causes.

"That last 'um, that chap that was reported went over the falls. They say he did go over the falls. Then quivering angrily: 'Maybe so—he could have. The natives would tell you what happened. I'm not biased because he turned the Congo over to that song and dance artist, Leopold, anyhow.'"

Unembarrassed, as he stood knee-deep in authors and literary criticism at the tea, he showed scars on his arms and legs to prove the truth or some of his tales.

"Rocks and spears, folks, rocks and spears," he explained as he showed a leg scarred deeply just below the knee. "The white doctors told me it was amputation, but I went to the witch doctors, and here's my old leg—the original."

The old soldier of fortune, who is averaging $4000 a week from his book royalties, jingled a few coins.

GOOSSENS EXPLAINS SYMPHONY PROGRAM

English Conductor Says Modernist in Music Must Also Be Classicist.

Eugene Goossens, the English conductor who will direct the final pair of concerts of the St. Louis Symphony Orchestra, gave a short explanation of the society's program of the society yesterday afternoon in which he discussed the program for the concerts.

Though a composer himself and in sympathy with the aspirations of modernists, Goossens has been thoroughly schooled in the classic tradition. In music, as in the other arts, he told his audience at the Forest Park Hotel, one had to be a classicist before he possibly could be a modernist.

The program that Goossens has arranged for the final concerts, with Walter Gieseking, the pianist, assisting, will include representative works from each of the three broad divisions of music.

The classic number will be Mozart's C Major Symphony, Schumann's "Minor" Concerto and Rimsky-Korsakov's "Russian Easter" will represent Romanticism, and modernist works will be contributed by Dr. Howard Hanson, whose "Pan and the Pines" is one of his latest, and by Manuel de Falla, the Spanish composer.

The orchestra, with Gieseking at the piano, will play De Falla's "Nights in the Gardens of Spain."

De Falla was entirely modern in his idiom and spirit. Goossens pointed out, but he was more characteristically Spanish. This did not mean that this music was constant breaking into tango rhythms or against the click of castanets. Its mood was much more subjective than most Spanish music one hears, but the essence of the country, its moonlit plains, its pious villages and cities were all instilled into the De Falla music.

Goossens played the principal themes of the Mozart and Schumann numbers on the piano.

KOSSUTH MONUMENT UNVEILED

5000 Persons of Hungarian Descent in New York for Ceremony.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, March 15.—New York was host today to 5000 men and women of Hungarian extraction, here to honor Louis Kossuth, Hungarian patriot, at the dedication of a Riverside drive monument to his memory. Delegations came from Chicago, Milwaukee, Buffalo, Syracuse and other cities to join 800 official representatives of the home land.

The earth of the old and new lands also mingled, for soil from 400 districts of Hungary and from 25 of the United States was mixed and part placed in an urn of the statue, while the rest was to return to Hungary with the delegation. The statue, the work of Louis Horvath of Budapest, erected with a fund of $35,000 raised by the Kossuth Monument Committee, depicts the soldier, orator and statesman in heroic mold with an aged peasant on the base bidding good-by to his son as he starts for the revolution of 1848.

$250,000 to Georgetown U.
By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, March 15.—Georgetown University has received from Mr. and Mrs. Thomas J. Maloney of Walbridge, N. J., for the Chemo-Medical Research Institute to be built on the university grounds. University officials, in announcing the donation, said the purpose of the institute will be to investigate the basic causes of disease. The total cost will approximate $1,000,000, of which one-half has been pledged.

Day by Day in Switzerland

By O. O. McIntyre

ST. MORITZ

A WINTER morning view of the Lake of St. Moritz is perhaps as inspiring with natural beauty as any other spot to be found in Europe. At least great artists have said so. The short fir trees around the edge of the ice mirror lake are crystallized in clear white beauty.

The cloudless sky is the typical bluish green of the aquamarine and suspended beyond snow-clad peaks is the sun, which hangs like a great ball of fire and the shimmering ensemble is bathed in the golden glow. It is like a breathing stage scene that suddenly becomes real.

It is the only natural scene I ever beheld that prompted an urge for that dream-awakening pluck we have read so much about. The professional skaters are leaping about like gazelles in early morning practice. Bob sleds with a rush of frosty breath are gliding over the hills.

Horse races—running and trotting—are seasonal events on the ice track of the lake. The turf is of padded snow and as fast and sure as the finest conditioned track in America. Perhaps the only change from American racing is that some of the jockeys have long whiskers.

The ski jumping on Olympia Leap is a contest of Lindberghian skill and nerve. As are the bob sled races on the Chantarella Run, a funicular skiway. The skiers leaving the snow for their jumps appear to float like graceful birds.

The big hotels in the High Alps have their private artificial ice rinks. The Olympic Winter Games draw the pick of ice skaters from all corners of the world. There are daily ice hockey matches and also contests of curling. This is played by the older folk.

What we know as a "head cold" is almost unknown to natives of St. Moritz and pulmonary trouble is rare. There is a bloom in every cheek and a sturdy relish for life. The tolling grind of the factory and sweat shop has never touched the Engadine.

SWISS innkeepers do not say "Good-by," just "Au Revoir." They are quite certain you will come back, and they are generally right.

TODAY upon departing I gave the porter 25 francs and very gravely he handed back 4 francs. Well, every little bit helps.

$660 PAID FOR BOOK BY SHAW

A First Edition of His First Work Bought at New York Auction.

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, March 15.—A first edition of George Bernard Shaw's first book, "Cashel Byron's Profession," was sold to W. M. Hill at a New York auction yesterday for $660. The English author dedicated his inscription on the flyleaf of the volume to "W. O. D. Peterson of Stratford, Ia., who sent me a dollar bill. If every other collector of autographs in the United States would do the same I should be a millionaire. Most of them send me only two-cent American postage stamps, which are not negotiable in this country."

COSTIGAN RESIGNS; SAYS TARIFF BOARD IS 'MANIPULATED'

later be many more reductions than increases by the President, under the flexible provision.
Yet, as he points out, the President in the last five years has proclaimed 18 increases in tariff rates, some of them "of much tariff significance," and five decreases or "little tariff importance," among the decreased duties being those on both white quail, mill feed and paint-bred chickens.

In addition, Costigan says the President has declined to act on decisive evidence, that "duties should be substantially lowered in the highly important cases of sugar, linseed oil and halibut, to which," he says, "if Chairman Marvin and other members of the Commission have their way, will now be added the five-year-old investigation of logs of fir, spruce, cedar and Western hemlock."

Often Dissented Alone.
Since the flexible tariff provision has been in force, Costigan has frequently and emphatically dissented, sometimes with other commissioners, but more often alone, from commission reports to the President dealing with proposed changes in tariff rates.

At a meeting of the American Economic Association in New York City in 1925, Costigan publicly charged that the Tariff Commission had been manipulated by public officials and private interests in violation of the spirit and purposes of the law creating the commission. Costigan has always contended that the commission, as created by Congress, was designed to be an impartial and essentially judicial fact-finding body.

In his New York address, he stated the commission had ceased to function as intended. He further urged a congressional investigation and recommended that, pending such an investigation, no further appropriations for the commission's work be voted by Congress and no further appointments to its membership by President Coolidge be approved.

Puts Responsibility on Coolidge.
As a result of these charges and of subsequent accusations by Senator Norris of Nebraska in a series of addresses, the investigation committee of which Senator Robinson is chairman was appointed in March, 1926. That committee has heard and printed much sworn testimony about the internal difficulties of the commission, but has not yet reported its findings to the Senate. Other members of the committee are Senators La Follette of Wisconsin, Bruce of Maryland, Reed of Pennsylvania and former Senator Wadsworth of New York.

In writing to Senator Robinson, Costigan reviews at length the reasons for the Senate's investigation and states that the present Tariff Commission is practically as badly divided and as incapable of performing its duties impartially under the law as ever.

Costigan places the responsibility for this condition directly on President Harding and on the "Marvin group in the commission."
Marvin is described in the Robinson letter as "a tireless and fanatical protectionist, known in Washington as a tariff lobbyist for New England protected interests."

"His membership," the letter continues, "seriously impairs the usefulness of the commission, which will not have proper credit or respect, either at home or abroad, among scientists, economists and disinterested persons, particularly so long as he remains its chairman. Without a background of public service justifying his selection, his position as commissioner and as chairman has exalted a tariff lobbyist at the public's expense."

"Incomparable opportunities for a former lobbyist have now for years been thrust into his hands, through his repeated annual designations for the statutory post of President of the commission."
"No exposures, however discrediting, of bias, partisanship and the

disturb of his associates have sufficed to break this New England state.

Assaults Martin Group.

"Strangest of all, the strange-held on the commission is continued by hidden influences. It is well known in Washington that President Coolidge has long ceased personally to consult or place confidence in his own designated Tarriff Commission chairman."

Concerning Broadard, Costigan says: "He has long been known in Washington as a political protégé of Senator Smoot. He was on the staff of the Commission before he became a member, and in both relations created an impression of a biased, as distinguished from a scientific or judicial mind."

Commissioner Lowell, the third member of the "Marvin group," is described by Costigan as lacking
"equipment or special qualifications for the duties of the commission."

Costigan's letter continues: "He even seems to take pride in parading his misconception of his official responsibilities. On various occasions he has stated at Commission meetings that he is opposed to dissenting statements in Commission reports to the President; that he is not the kind of a man to dissent and never will dissent, but instead, 'will keep still,' no matter how much he may disagree with the contents of such reports."

The letter directs attention to his special request made by President Coolidge to former Tariff Commissioner David J. Lewis of Maryland and refused by him, for a blanket resignation from the commission, to be used by President Coolidge at any time.

Misleading Tariff Fallacies.

Costigan's letter charges the Commission has failed to meet its statutory obligations to report on the effect of the tariff not only the effect of the tariff on the "industries and labor of this country,"
The letter says:

"An open-minded performance of this task by the Commission would have disclosed the use of various tariff fallacies to mislead farmers and industrial workers in the United States. If the Commission had been properly constituted, long before now it would have clearly pointed out the limited benefits derived by farmers from many agricultural tariff rates."

"For example, the Commission would have convincingly dealt with the unimportance of the tariff for most wheat growers in the United States. It might at this hour be reporting on the question: 'What does the 42 cents per bushel tariff on wheat, which was lifted to that level because of Canadian competion, have to do with the fact that the American hard spring wheat of the Northwest has lately been selling at prices about 10 cents per bushel less than Canadian hard spring wheat?'"

Corn Rate Increase Futile.

"And the public would already be advised that an increased tariff on corn, for which appeals have been pouring into Washington, offers little hope for the distressed farmers of the corn belt, who just seek to escape from their tragic burdens even if nothing is offered but an unlikely miracle. Indeed, one can but wonder in these days of easy faith why the growers of the South have no reason to be hypothesized by assurances that their prosperity can be guaranteed by a highly protective tariff duty on cotton."

Costigan says the tariff commission could have shown, and was under obligations to show, that "American wages, though relatively higher than foreign are not in the main the consequence of protective tariffs, but rather of the remarkable skill with which human and other power has been applied to the enormously rich natural resources of the United States.
Some highly protected industries pay wretched wages, and constantly before the commission are much familiar facts as the higher wages paid in the boot and shoe industry, which enjoys no tariff subsidy, than in the highly protected woolen and worsted industries."

"Similarly, it is common information—the significance of which is, however, often forgotten—that the automobile industry—which recently asked that the tariff be completely removed from motor cars since the industry fears no world competition whatever—pays much higher wages than highly protected United States industries, such as pottery and meat packing.
In fact, novelty no longer attaches to the story of efficient mass production.

"Relatively high wages can be and are paid in our automobile factories, yet the American labor cost of any single automobile is low, and the product of American factories can usually be sold cheaper than the comparable product of foreign countries, in spite of the lower wages paid in such foreign countries. Nor does this experience differ widely from cases of mass production in other domestic industries in which the output is aided by especially valuable natural resources. Indeed, our natural advantages for production have wrought such comparative results

through all our history, even in colonial times, as shown by higher wages in many enterprises here than abroad, with or without tariffs, and with low tariffs as well as high.

Costigan's letter continues: "It is unnecessary to add that a scientific tariff commission would not hesitate to show, to the extent statistically determinable, that, while excessive tariffs at times enrich private interests, other tariffs are deceptively meaningless; that, as a rule, tariff duties are more advantageous to most branches of manufacture than to most branches of agriculture; that tariff duties are not likely to bestow equal benefits on both; and that, as far as the articles produced by the great majority of our farmers are concerned, prices are usually determined by market conditions, rather than by tariff barriers.

Has Lost All Hope. "This country has nothing to fear through discovering that her rank among industrial nations tends to be advanced rather than retarded under tariff policies of greater liberality than those now in force, permitting, within the limits of fair practices, the reasonable operation of fundamental economic laws."

The letter ends as follows: "In the face of such continuing offenses both of omission and commission, I have decided to end my official experience. Until recently I assumed that, with two years' knowledge, Congress would not fail at this session to grapple with corrective remedies. The appointment of the Senate Investigating Committee made that expectation reasonable. To be sure, the Senate's confirmation of Commissioner Brossard and Lowell, in the midst of that investigation, pointed the other way. The former was open to challenge as disqualified; the latter in part because he was without real understanding of his task. Yet my personal confidence in the final outcome has persisted until now. It is extinguished at last. And I am unwilling to devote to a vanished hope the unexpired two and a half years of my present term of office.

"With but three months probably left for the present session of Congress, in a presidential year, the Senate Investigating Committee is silent. The issue would not be hopeless if a genuine program for a reorganized Commission had been set in motion. Instead, Congress has once more voted the Commission's annual appropriation. Agriculture is making proper demands for national relief, and it is easier to use the Commission to convert farmers to a mistaken belief in tariff salvation than to apply real and permanent agricultural remedies. Under such circumstances, my further official partnership is useless."

Nothing has so startled the community as the effect of Nurito, a physician's prescription for rheumatism, neuritis, neuralgia, sciatica and lumbago. It is now to be had at the local drug stores and is certainly a boon to humanity. Many won't believe such a thing possible as almost instant relief in even bed-ridden cases of excruciating pain. They say it must be a narcotic. But it isn't anything of the sort, and to prove it, get the regular package from the drug store. Try it as directed and if it doesn't prove almost a miracle, driving away pain with two or three doses the druggist will refund the price you paid him for it. Ask at the drug store for a box of Nurito on this guarantee.

INSTITUTE FOR DEAF SEEKS MORE FUNDS

Central School Requires $152,375 to Complete Fund for a New Building.

Additional subscriptions of $152,375 are needed to complete a $322,755 fund for erection of a new building for Central Institute for the Deaf, 315 South Kingshighway. It was reported at the annual meeting of the managers, trustees and friends of the school, at a luncheon at Hotel Statler yesterday.

Receipts for maintenance and operation in the calendar year 1927 were $69,016, including $52,703 in tuition and $13,607 from the Community Fund. Disbursements exceeded this amount by $10.15.

A demonstration of the accomplishments of deaf pupils of the school, was given before the 200 persons who attended the luncheon. Central Institute uses the oral method of instruction exclusively, disregarding sign language, and teaches its pupils lipreading and painstakingly develops the voice. The children give playlets, recitations and songs. One entertaining feature was the joint description by half a dozen totally deaf boys and girls of Lindbergh's recent Latin-American flight, in response to a teacher's questions.

Central Institute, a pioneer and leader in its field, trains the deaf, offers corrective measures for defective speech, educates teachers for the deaf and conducts scientific research work, under the direction of its founder, Dr. Max A. Goldstein.

330 MILES AN HOUR IN PLANE

Speed Made by British Flyer Who Fell Into Sea.

By the Associated Press. 15.—Flight Lieut. S. M. Kirkland, killed when his speed plane plunged into the sea several days ago, attained a speed of 330 miles an hour along the straight near Southampton water the day before he crashed, said an official who watched the test flight.

This speed, which would far exceed that attained by Maj. Mario de Bernardi, Italian flyer, who established a world record of 296.34 miles an hour, cannot stand as a new record, as it was not subject to official timing.

"YELLOW MASK"

Don't let that Yellowish Tinge on your Teeth Deny You Beauty; This New Way Brings Glorious Whiteness Quickly—Try It!

ALL tooth enamel is ivory white—yours, too.

That yellowness comes from a "liquid cement" in your saliva, which glues to your teeth—then hardens. Forms a glassy envelope over the enamel. Food, tobacco and coffee stain it yellow. Ordinary dentifrices give no aid—they gloss right over this "Yellow Mask."

But there is a special, non-gritty substance that banishes this beauty blight swiftly. Foremost dentists use it for cleaning difficult-to-whiten teeth and putting a high polish on them. Can't harm the most delicate enamel. This substance is known as "Tri-Calcium Phosphate." The beauty miracles it works are amazing.

Now dental science has succeeded in composing a pleasant, tasty tooth paste of this magic "Tri-Calcium Phosphate," which means that the whitening powers of this material are now yours for everyday use. And that unsightly "Yellow Mask" can now be banished!

The name of this remarkable dentifrice is ORPHOS TOOTH PASTE. No tooth paste has had so great a reception. Dentists everywhere endorse it. Noted movie stars have adopted it. Women and men testify to beauty effects that are a revelation.

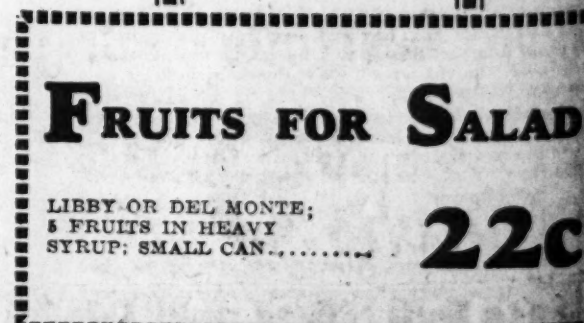

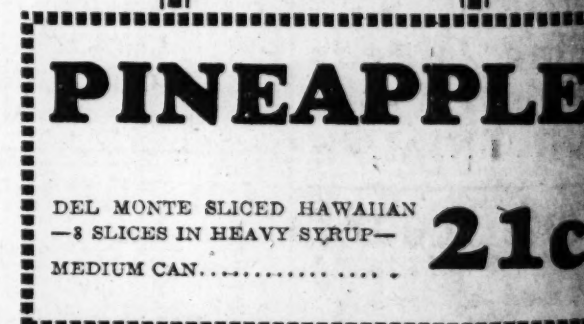

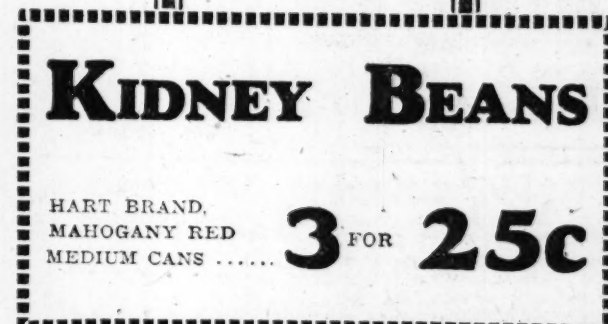

We want you to try this magic ORPHOS. It's different. Doesn't foam and froth, but oh! how it whitens and polishes! Get your first tube today. Don't wait. If you don't say it is the finest cleaning tooth paste you ever used, return the unused part of the tube to your druggist and get your money back.

HAHN'S ATTEMPT AT 3-QUARTER RECORD FAILS

Boston A. A. Star
Little Opposition
Wins by 60 Yards
Timed in 3:03 2-5.

Lloyd Hahn Plans To Rest Until He Starts in Tryouts

NEW YORK, March 15.—LLOYD HAHN, star middle distance runner of the Boston A. A., declared today that he has hung up his shoes until the Olympic trials in Boston, and that if he is successful in winning an Olympic championship he will retire to his farm in Nebraska for the life of a country gentleman.

NEW YORK, March 15.—

Hahn, crack Boston A. A. middle distance runner, failed last night in his effort to break his own door record for the three quarters of a mile, covering the distance in 3:03 2-5, five seconds to win. "Jasper three-quarters," was the event of the Manhattan games of the 102nd Engineers Army. Hahn's time was one and the fifth seconds back of the record of 3:02 2-5, he set for the distance at the Manhattan games two years ago.

Colleges Oust W. Virginia for Paying Athletes

School May Be Reinstated by Association if Conditions Are Remedied.

CHICAGO, March 15.—The University of West Virginia today was expelled from membership in the North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools. Payments of money to students for services as athletes and failure to admit the athletic funds were given as the reasons for dropping the West Virginia school.

The association has a membership of 251 colleges. The expulsion of West Virginia is the most drastic action ever taken by the association against any of its members.

West Virginia was admitted to the North Central two years ago, being the newest member in the association. The condition of athletes in the school was first brought to the attention of the officers last year and the school was advised of the impending action.

Representatives of the University indicated that change would be made within the next year. In such case, its membership may be restored.

BELGIAN PLAYER RUNS OUT STRING IN 54 SESSIONS

Final Score of Match, 1500 to 1190—New Title Holder Had High Runs of 248 and 194.

Edouard Horemans

Edouard Horemans, Belgian champion, took the world 15.2 championship from Jack Schaefer here last night for a score of 1500 to 1190.

The match ended in the fifty-fourth inning when the Belgian "mailed man" clicked off 21 points after taking the balls on a setup. The last two blocks yesterday afternoon and last night were in marked contrast to the opening sessions when Schaefer secured a slight lead. After runs of 248, 194 and 154, Horemans made 117 in the fifty-third inning to virtually decide the match.

Schaefer, despite his delicate striking, could not get the feel of the table in the last two blocks. "I could not shoot them in a basket," Schaefer remarked as the new champion made the final bid.

It was the fourth block that Horemans registered his high run of 248, which brought him within 22 points of victory in that particular session. At that time Schaefer had only 55 in the fourth block. Schaefer was "cold" by reason of his long wait in the corner while Horemans was making the big run. The challenger soon ran his string to 1299 ending the block. Schaefer's score then was 564.

The challenger resumed play in the final block by registering a 49, then for four innings he worried along collecting only 2 points. Schaefer did almost as badly. Then after collecting 22 Horemans had five clear small innings. The champion made a desperate effort in the closing rounds, registering 44, 2, 35, and finally 87 with runs of 62 and 117 and an unfinished run of 21 to win the championship.

Spring.
THE robin pipes his merry lay
In March or there about;
A worthy gesture, but we'd say
His pipes need thawing out.

Upon the ground he hops along.
Dressed up in summer clothes;
But can't do justice to his song
Because his pipes are "froze."

If he'd start warming up in May,
When leaves are on the tree,
His merry little roundelay
Would not be off the key.

Then all his troubles he'd forget,
And pipe the proper note
If he just smoked the cigarette

HOFFMAN SCORES TECHNICAL KAYO OVER BOB MAHAN

Whittier Stops Collins in Other Feature of Bears' Intramural Tourney—
Betas Win Trophies.

Fourteen championships in wrestling and boxing were determined last night at Francis Gymnasium in the Washington U. intramural tournament, with team trophies in both divisions going to Beta Theta Pi fraternity.

Whittier, former Western A. A. U. 175-pound champion, won by a technical kayo over Bob Mahan, former Bear football captain, in the feature boxing match. For two rounds Mahan held Hoffman fairly even, but condition and experience told in the third stanza and Harry Sharpe, referee, stopped the match with but seven seconds remaining, awarding the decision to Hoffman.

Ted Whittier, Bear fullback, scored a technical knockout over Clyde Collins, football captain-elect, in the second round of their heavyweight bout. Whittier, showing a marked advantage, was hammering Collins at will when the bout was stopped. Whittier and Hoffman represented Beta Theta Pi and Mahan and Collins represented Sigma Alpha Epsilon.

SYSTEM OF HANDLING DAVIS CUP TRYOUTS ALL WRONG, SAYS HARDY

PRACTICE WILL MAKE "BUMS" OF TENNIS PLAYERS

President of California Association Declares Youngsters Cannot Give So Much Time to Game.

By the Associated Press.
SAN FRANCISCO, March 15.—Vigorously attacking the methods of the United States Lawn Tennis Association in handling the tryouts for the American Davis Cup team, Dr. Sumner Hardy, president of the California Lawn Tennis Association declared "it is going to make bums out of our tennis players."

Dr. Hardy's declaration followed receipt of a message to John Doe, Stanford University student, ranking No. 8 on the national tennis list. The wire was an order from Charles S. Garland, chairman of the Davis Cup Selection Committee to Doe to represent America at the first American zone matches at Mexico City April 6, 7 and 8.

When Doe received the order he took out a leave of absence from academic activities at Stanford and immediately departed for Mexico City.

Dr. Hardy attributed the tennis association's move to William T. Tilden's program of training young tennis players.

$45,000 Will Be Spent to Develop Tennis This Year

NEW YORK, March 15.—A record-breaking tennis "melon" will be cut this year for the benefit of the development of the game by the 13 district associations of the United States Lawn Tennis Association.

The latest official bulletin of the U. S. L. T. A., disclosed that approximately 75 per cent of the net income for 1927, amounting to $45,000, will be distributed pro rata to the district bodies.

The amount is far in excess of any previous distribution of surplus funds of the national tennis governing body. The totals for 1926 and 1927, respectively, were $10,124.66 and $15,719.53.

Under the method of distributing the money to the district associations in proportion to their contributions in dues and tournament sanction fees, the Eastern district, comprising New York and the metropolitan area, will receive nearly 25 per cent or about $11,000. The next largest district, the Western Association, with headquarters in Chicago, and representing five states, figures to get around $6,000.

The other sections, in the order in which they will benefit by the fund distribution, are: Middle States New England, Missouri Valley, California, Southern, Middle Atlantic, Inter-Mountain, Pacific Northwest, Southwestern and Texas.

of our tennis players, and that is not what tennis was meant to be. Of course I do not blame the boys. They see a probable trip to Europe and a lot of other nice trips ahead."

Dr. Hardy attributed the tennis association's move to William T. Tilden's program of training young tennis players.

CENTRAL ASSOCIATION CITIES ARE ANNOUNCED

By the Associated Press.
QUINCY, Ill., March 15.—The Central Association Baseball League will be composed of teams representing six cities, Bruce Wilkins, league organizer, said yesterday. They are Jacksonville, Keokuk, Ia., Hannibal and Moberly, Mo.

THE ambition of every man who plays golf, whether he is a professional or an amateur, is to take strokes off his score. That is the aim of Walter Hagen as much as of the rankiest duffer. The great difference is that Hagen, aside from any improvement in his mechanical ability, knows that he can save stroke after stroke simply by using his head.

The business man golfer takes lessons. He reads books. He imitates good players. He buys new clubs. He does everything he can to improve his swing, his shot-making ability. But he overlooks one important feature. He doesn't ask himself if he is scoring as well as he ought to with his present ability.

In every club there is always at least one man who has the reputation of "making a poor game go a long way," the man who seems always to beat a player a bit better than himself. He doesn't do it by any divine inspiration, nor yet by any trick. He simply uses his head, analyzing each situation as it confronts him, always looking in view his own limitations and powers. That is what we call judgment, and it is a lot easier to use good judgment than to learn to swing a golf club like Harry Vardon.

Here is an example showing how a man can waste strokes. I played in a four-ball match with my father, who plays a fairly good game. On the seventeenth hole, Dad hit under his ball on the drive, dropping it in the road just over the hole. His opponent topped into the water and played three from the bank.

Playing Safe Advisable.

I particularly noted how Dad's ball was lying. It invited a full shot with a straight-faced iron. But there was a five-foot embankment ten yards ahead. The green was so far distant that the longest shot would still leave 70 yards or more to go. The other man was in the rough in three. The best he could be expected to do was to play in four, leave two putts for a six.

Dad needed, in this situation, only to play conservatively up the fairway with a mashie, another mashie shot to the green, take two putts for a five and win the hole. But he didn't stop to think it out. Bent upon hitting the ball as far as possible, he took the long iron, half-topped the shot, and the ball, striking into the bank, barely hopped up into the fairway.

Having wasted a stroke, he was little better off than before. Now, he could not carry the bunker 20 yards from the green. He played short of it with an iron, pitched on the green in four, and holed out in two putts for a six. His opponent as it turned out, missed up his iron shot, but chipped to the edge of the hole and gained a half.

Study the Shot.

These are the things that not one golfer in a hundred will trouble himself to think about. To take chances is perfectly proper—when there is something to be gained and there is a reasonable possibility that the shot can be made. But where is there even an excuse for taking a risk when in no conceivable way can benefit result?

Years of practice and instruction are needed to round out a sound, workable method of hitting a golf ball. For a great many men, it is impossible to give to the game more than enough time to become ordinarily proficient. Most of them never will be able to drive like Johnny Farrell, nor to play an iron like Johnny Armour, nor to putt like Walter Hagen. But they can learn very quickly to prevent the useless waste of strokes.

I believe that if a person will approach every shot with a cool head, if he will look carefully to what lies before him and think two or three shots ahead, he can improve his average score by from four strokes upward.

ST. LOUIS FIELD TRIALS SLATED MARCH 24-26

The spring field trials of the St. Louis Pointer and Setter Club will be held March 24 to 26 at Farmington, Mo. Events will include Derby and Shooting Dog stakes. Awards will be given to the winners in each event. The trials are open to any owners who are members of any club which is affiliated with the Association of Amateur Field Trial Clubs of America.

SPRINGFIELD, Mo., March 15.—Charles "Babe" Adams, star hurler with the Springfield Western Association club last year, notified Manager Bob Wells today that he was retiring from baseball and not report this year. Adams has been playing organized baseball for more than 20 years.

Soccer Cup Finalists In Both East and West Low in League Standing

Ben Millers, New York Nationals and J. and P. Coats Clubs Prove They Play Best When Engaged in National Title Games.

By Dent McSkimming.
The strange situation wherein a club which finishes last in league competition comes through to reach the divisional final to wonder what sort of club the Ben Millers can be. But, the history of the cup competition proves that it is not infrequently that a club which finishes low in the league standing enjoys remarkable success in national championship play.

In the East, the finalists are the New York Nationals, owned by Charles Stoneham, and the J. and P. Coats team of Providence, R. I. Both are members of the American Soccer League, and at the close of the first half of the league season, in January, the Nationals were on the bottom in the ten-club loop, and Coats were eighth. Checked and rebuffed in league play, these two clubs have smashed through all opposition in national play, proving themselves, like the Ben Millers, great "money" teams, composed of players who go best under pressure. Some clubs are notoriously weak in cup play although apparently stronger in personnel than the victors.

Stakes Must Be High.
In beating the American-Hungarian club of Cleveland, the Canadian Club of Chicago, and the Swedish-Americans of Detroit, the Ben Millers played football which was vastly superior to their best effort in league play this season. From this it would appear that Billy Foley's boys need the stimulus of high stakes to bring out their best football.

St. Louis has always been represented by such a team, since this city entered the national championship competition, in the season of 1919-20. A local club has reached the western final in six

TOM PIVAC TO MEET MAHONEY IN COLISEUM FIGHT ON MARCH 22

A light-heavyweight bout between Tom Pivac, the South Broadway boxer, and Jimmy Mahoney of Chicago, has been added to the program of 10-round contests featuring the Fred Stockham American Legion Post's professional boxing show of Thursday night, March 22, at the New Coliseum arena. Johnny "Pewee" Kaiser will oppose Milton Manguna of New Orleans, and Joe Rivers of Kansas City will go against Davey Abad of Detroit in the other 10-round bouts.

The bout will mark Pivac's first appearance in the ring since his technical kayo from Chuck Wiggins at the New Coliseum a month ago. In the Wiggins match Pivac sustained such severe punishment that he was unable to come out of his corner for the fifth round. Pivac was originally slated to fight Mahoney that night, but Jimmy Byrne's withdrawal from the card forced Matchmaker Tippett to rearrange his program.

BAKER LANDS WORLD FREE THROW HONORS WITH 73 OUT OF 75

By the Associated Press.
CHARLESTON, S. C., March 15.—Reginald Baker of Savannah, Ga., was announced last night as the winner in the men's division of the world's championship free-throw tournament, with 73 baskets out of a possible 75.

Years of practice and instruction are needed to round out a sound, workable method of hitting a golf ball. For a great many men, it is impossible to give to the game more than enough time to become ordinarily proficient. Most of them never will be able to drive like Johnny Farrell, nor to play an iron like Johnny Armour, nor to putt like Walter Hagen. But they can learn very quickly to prevent the useless waste of strokes.

ARDEN FARM STABLE GETS SECOND CALL ON JOCKEY McATEE

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
NEW YORK, March 15.—Linus "Pony" McAtee will have plenty of mounts this year. George Olson, of course, has first call on his services for the horses owned by G. L. Gerry and Marshall Field II, and now Arden Farms, owned by W. A. Harriman, has registered second call on his services with the Jockey Club.

That means he will ride Chance Play, one of the best of the handicapped division, in some of his engagements; whenever, in fact, Gerry and Fields do not have an entry in the same race. He also will be called on when opportunity offers to ride the Arden Farm's two-year-olds of which John I. Smith has 13 of choice breeding under his care at Belmont Park.

ILLINOIS RIFLE TEAM WINS RIGHT TO ENTER NATIONAL TITLE EVENT

By the Associated Press.
URBANA, Ill., March 15.—Scoring 3664 bullseyes out of a possible 4000 the University of Illinois rifle team today won the team championship of the sixth corps area and the right to enter the national championship matches.

Marksmen from Wisconsin, Michigan, Northwestern, Knox, and Michigan State College competed in today's shoot. R. N. Dupuis of Waukegan led the Illinois team in scoring, with 350 out of a possible 400.

This image shows a vertical strip of a document, likely a page from an old book or manuscript. The left side of the strip is dominated by a dark, heavily textured vertical band, which appears to be the binding or the edge of the page where it was sewn into a volume. This dark band has a fibrous, layered appearance. To the right of this dark band is a lighter, more uniform vertical strip. This lighter area is mostly white or light gray, but it shows signs of aging, including some faint, irregular discoloration and small dark specks. The overall texture of the entire strip is grainy, characteristic of old paper or parchment. There is no legible text or other markings visible on this narrow section of the page.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, March 15.—A broadening demand for stocks, particularly in the railroad group, characterized the resumption of the upward price movement in today's stock market. Radio Corporation and American Linseed, violent advances in which featured the earlier sessions this week, fell back rather sharply on profit-taking, while General Motors again came to the fore by climbing seven points, a new record high price at 144.75, an advance within a point of the top of $100,000,000.

The weekly Federal Reserve report of brokers' loans, issued after the close of the market, showed an increase of $50,000,000, bringing the total to $2,644,000,000. The high record of $2,644,000,000 was established on Feb. 2. Wall Street was completely at sea during the day as to what the loan figures would show, because of the significant speculation that has taken place during the past week. Early guesses ranged all the way from a small decrease to an increase of $100,000,000 or more.

Despite the $2,644,000,000 turnover of funds today, call money remained unchanged at 4 1/2 per cent, with a plentiful supply available. There was no change in time money and commercial paper.

No Surprises in News.

Except for a number of annual reports, which contained no surprises, and the publication of the foreign trade figures for February, which revealed a favorable balance of about $29,000,000, which contrasted with an export excess of $51,000,000 in January and $45,000,000 in February a year ago. There was little in the day's business news to attract interest. Raising of the Prairie Pipe Line, General Cable and Air Reduction dividends had a bullish effect on speculative sentiment.

Active bidding for General Motors was influenced, in part, by reports of a heavy increase in February sales. Hudson and Hup were again active just before their recent high prices, and Willys-Overland advanced more than 2 points to a new high of 23.

Can Stocks Up.

American Can and Continental Can reached new 1934 highs. Wide fluctuations took place in some of the high priced specialties. United Fruit jumped 1/2 point to a new peak of 20 1/2. International Match preferred climbed more than 6 points to a new top at 115 1/2, and American Machine & Foundry, Dupont, American Sugar Refining, General Cable, Signal, Mailman preferred, National Fruit and Savages Arms advanced 4 points or more. Express shares also showed big gains.

Radio quieted down considerably, opening at 15 1/2, climbing to 15 3/4, breaking to 14 3/4, and rallying to 14 1/2, off 7 points net. American Linseed closed 8 points lower at 29 after having touched 19 1/2.

Buying of Wabash.

Heavy buying of Wabash, presumably based on rumors that the Baltimore & Ohio would guarantee a $2 annual dividend if the proposed realignment of Eastern trunk lines were carried out, featured the railroad list. Wabash jumped 5 points to a new 1934 high at 75 and then reacted 1 1/2 points on realizing. The St. Paul issues, St. Louis Southwestern and New York Central also reached new high ground for the year, and Gulf, Mobile & Northern advanced nearly 5 points to 54 1/2.

The advance in the Canadian dollar to a slight premium and the further weakness of Portuguese exchange, which sagged to the lowest levels in years, featured the foreign exchange market.

Other rates held fairly steady, with sterling cables quoted around $4.87 1/2.

Loans to Brokers and Dealers Up $50,355,000

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, March 15.—Loans to brokers and dealers in New York Federal Reserve member banks for the week ending March 13 amounted to $50,355,000, compared with $39,700,000 the preceding week, and $40,000,000 the week before. The increase was due to a heavy increase in the amount of loans to the St. Paul issues, St. Louis Southwestern and New York Central, which reached new high ground for the year, and Gulf, Mobile & Northern advanced nearly 5 points to 54 1/2.

FINANCIAL NOTES

Profit of the Standard Oil Co. of Kentucky for 1933 reported $3,103,330 before Federal taxes, compared with $2,800,619 in 1932.

Prospect Texas Co. declared the usual extra dividend of 75 cents a share and the regular quarterly dividend of $1.10 a share to stock of record April 14.

Taback & Wines Corporation earned $11.1 a share in 1933, against $9.7 a share in 1932.

American Chain Co. earned $3.50 a share on the common stock and $4.00 a share on the preferred.

James Vincent, president of California National Bank, Los Angeles, for the year ended December 31, 1933, reported a net profit of $1,100,000, compared with $1,000,000 in 1932.

WAGNER ELECTRIC APPRECIATION OF OVER $1,000,000

Common Stock Ranges Up $5, Making Total Advance of $14.50 Since First Day of Month.

Wagner Electric common stock has had a market price appreciation of more than $1,000,000 since March 1, the first day of the month. The stock has advanced $14.50 a share, making a total advance of $14.50 since the first day of the month. The stock has advanced $14.50 a share, making a total advance of $14.50 since the first day of the month.

During 1927 the stock ranged between $17 and $28, while in the previous year a low of around $14 was recorded. At its meeting, Feb. 24, the board of directors declared a dividend on the outstanding common stock of the 1927 earnings of $2.50 per share, payable April 15, 1928, at the close of business on March 31, 1928.

The annual statement to stockholders issued recently said, in part: "While the sales volume for the year 1927 was approximately the same as for the year 1926, the profit of $229,226 for 1927 as against $49,480.37 for 1926 shows an improvement in the company's operations."

"The billing for the first quarter of 1928 will exceed the billing for the first quarter of 1927, and present indications are that this will be true of at least the first six months of 1928. The outstanding bonded indebtedness has been reduced to $2,149,200."

With Wagner Electric active in the stock market, the National Candy Company and also sold at decline.

Marion (Hill) Jail Break Thwarted.
By the Associated Press.
MARION, Ill., March 15.—An attempt to break jail on the part of five prisoners, including Freddie Wooten, charged with the murder of Highway Patrolman Lory, was discovered yesterday by jail attendants. A quantity of saws and a sawed bar were discovered. It is believed the saws were taken in with food.

KENNETT APPROVES POWER PLANT PLAN

Only Nine Votes Against Measure to Obtain Municipal Light System.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
KENNETT, Mo., March 15.—In spite of a "eleventh hour" reduction in rates by the Missouri Arkansas Power Co., a proposal to own and operate municipal light plant was carried at a special election Tuesday. There were only nine dissenting votes. A substantial reduction in power rates for residential and commercial purposes was announced Monday by the power company.
The municipal ownership project is in accordance with the platform of lower electric light and power rates, on which Mayor L. R. Tanney was elected last year.
Under the proposition accepted in the election yesterday, the Buckeye Oil Engine Co. of Lima, O., will install a power plant of sufficient capacity to care for the present and future needs of the city, along with an adequate and modern distribution system, without a down payment of any kind. The city is required only to furnish a building to house the equipment, which will be paid for out of the earnings of

A DOCTOR'S ADVICE GO LIGHT ON LAXATIVES!

Everyone needs a laxative AT TIMES. But there's no need for making it a HABIT. If you have the habit, you can be rid of it in thirty days. Or less! And this is how: The next time you go to take any strong cathartic—don't. Instead, take a little Cascarets. That's not a vicious drug, but the bark of a tree. The laxative made with cascara couldn't harm a child. It is, in fact, the one cathartic many physicians will approve for children. Gentle as it is, cascaring is just as thorough in cleansing the colon as the more powerful purges that actually sap a person's strength.

CASCARETS
They Work While You Sleep!

Proof that there's no habit from cascara begins the very day after taking. Instead of being clogged worse than ever, the bowels are more inclined to move OF THEIR OWN ACCORD. You may have to take cascara several times to establish regularity. But the times you need this gentle stimulus grow further apart. And you NEVER find you must increase the amount.
Cascara's ideal form is the candy cascara that pleases any palate, and you'll find them at the first drug store you ask.

Style Swings Away From Straight Lines

NEW YORK. THE new lines for which American women have been looking to Paris—and looking in vain for some reason—began at last to appear during the past fall and winter as drapery, irregular hem lines, puffs and bows crept timidly into favor and prominence. Three types of soft and simple frocks which show the tendency away from the straight-line dress and which are having great success in America are illustrated here.

The first sketch is of an evening gown in pale green satin. The design of this gown harks back to the harem skirt; both of its flounces are looped up and very full, short in the front and drooping very low in the back. A wide band of pale green tulle ribbon ties at the side-back in a huge bow pinned with a diamond pin. These diamond and rhinestone pins are seen more and more frequently for evening wear.

Carrying out the popularity of the palest shades, the dancing frock is of pale yellow chiffon. The bodice has a line of shirring down the center, causing it to fall in soft converging folds. The skirt elaboration consists of long circulars set on a wide sash of the chiffon, which ties in the front in a lovely soft bow. The length in back is little more than in the front, but the sides just escape the floor.

The afternoon dress illustrated is of a type which has filled a long-felt need. It is developed in heavy felt crepe in the new shade of ecaille blonde. Rows of shirring circling into a rosette in the front gather all the fullness into converging folds and cause the hem line to rise.

In the recent frocks the hips have been defined and the skirts have been full, allowing plenty of play for movement, giving the frocks a sort of billowing quality. Now more elaboration of line, greater choice of material, and it is safe to say that the best dressed American women are waiting with open minds the importations from the spring collections and will welcome the greatest departures from monotony that Paris can offer.

(Copyright, 1928.)

Seen on 5th Avenue

An interesting ensemble costume consists of a one-piece dress worn with a short jacket. The bodice of the frock is embroidered in white silk, while a gilet gives fullness to one side of the skirt and a pleat gives the jumper effect.

An interesting innovation for evening slippers is the jeweled span worn in lieu of a strap on an opera pump.

A very interesting diversion from the usual type of bolero dress has a one-sided jacket effect. That is, the bolero comes over to the center of the back, then out the arm and attached with an interesting button just above the beltline.

Moire is still popular for evening wear, the soft lustrous material lending itself so well to draping.

Lace is most popular this year. The heavier laces are worn to trim black satin or velvet, and the finer laces for evening frocks.

One of the most striking of the costume necklaces is the oblongs of lapis and amber, set diagonally on a slab of silver, and set with carnelians between each oblong.

Practical Pointers

Instead of discarding used rubber rings sew four together with stout thread or string and use them for mats to place hot dishes on. They are also serviceable when placing a plate or dish of food directly on the ice.

One woman has found a way to keep the scatter rugs where they belong. She uses the snap fasteners from old gloves and tacks one-half of the fastener to the floor and the other half she sews on the rug. She has one at each end of the rug. She snaps these to the floor and presto! the rug stays where it is put.

Candy stains will disappear in the laundering process. For unwashable fabrics sponge with clear, warm water. If any color remains treat this with sodium hydroxide, but it will be necessary to work fast and rinse thoroughly, especially on colored fabrics, as this agent is apt to remove colors.

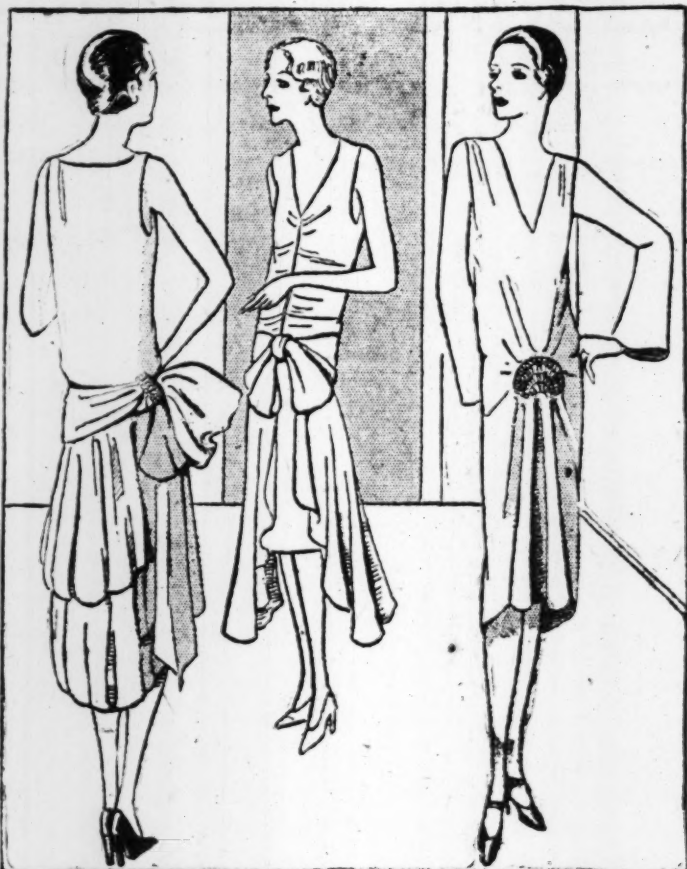

Old Restaurants.

The oldest restaurant in the world, all of them much frequented by tourists, are the Bratwurstglocklein at Nuremberg, where sausage has been eaten for 525 years; the Mitre Hotel at Oxford, which has a service of 500 years; the Cafe de la Regence in Paris, which has been open for 200 years; and the Ratskeller in Bremen, built in 1405. The Capello Nero of Venice also counts its age in centuries.

Egg Noodles.

Beat one egg with three tablespoons milk and a pinch of salt. Stir into half cup sifted flour. Pour this through a small funnel into stock, soup or on top of goulash, boiling hot. The noodles will rise to the top in a very few minutes and will soon be tender.

On the crest of the Muotras Murall, near St. Moritz, Switzerland, is a hotel whose window lights at night have often been mistaken for stars, so high is it above the town.

An evening gown of pale green satin. A dancing frock of pale yellow chiffon. A lovely afternoon dress of ecaille blonde crepe.

WINESOME HOLDS A RECEPTION

Friendship is a gentle art Whose demonstration warms the heart.

—Old Mother Nature.

WINESOME BLUEBIRD had arrived at the Old Orchard. Yes, sir, Winesome Bluebird had arrived from the Sunny South. All the Old Orchard knew it. You see, Winesome had been watched for and waited for and now everybody hurried to pay his respects to him and greet him. He held a reception. He had to hold a reception whether he wanted to or not. He was simply surrounded.

My, my, my, how the tongues did fly!

"How far have you come from?" asked Peter Rabbit.

"Inquired Tommy Tit.

"How far away is sweet Mistress Spring?" demanded Tank Yank the Nuthatch.

"Do you think we are going to have any more cold weather?" piped up Slaty the Junco.

"Who else is on the way now?" inquired Doty the Tree Sparrow.

"Did you have any snow down where you were?" Happy Jack Squirrel wanted to know.

"Are you here to stay?" asked Chatterer the Red Squirrel.

My, how the questions did fly! Everybody talked at once. Nobody seemed to expect a reply to his question. If he did he didn't wait for it. Winesome's eyes twinkled. It was good to be back in the Old Orchard. It was good to see those old friends. To be sure, the trees were still bare of leaves and the grass had only begun to show a little green here and there, but just the same it was home. So Winesome whistled softly just out of sheer joy and everybody instantly stopped talking so as to hear that whistle. There is nothing quite like it among all the bird voices. The moment Winesome stopped whistling the tongues began to fly again.

"Did Welcome Robin come along with you?" inquired one.

"Have you seen anything of Little Friend the Song Sparrow?" inquired another.

"Did you see anything of Little Friend the Song Sparrow?" inquired another.

"Are you here to stay?" asked Chatterer the Red Squirrel.

"Are you very, very tired?" Tommy Tit asked.

"At this last question Winesome shook his head. 'No,' said he. 'I'm not very tired. Why should I be?'"

"But you have had such a long journey!" cried Tommy Tit.

"And I've been a long time making it," replied Winesome.

"Oh!" exclaimed Peter Rabbit. "I thought you folk who go away down to the Sunny South made the trip all in one flight."

"Some do, but I don't," replied Winesome Bluebird. "In fact, I didn't spend the winter so very far down in the Sunny South. I went only far enough to be sure of plenty to eat. And both going down and coming back I flew only a little way each day. Sometimes I stayed in a place quite a while."

"Then you don't really know whether sweet Mistress Spring has left the Sunny South to come up here!" exclaimed Happy Jack in a disappointed voice.

"Oh, yes, I do," replied Winesome Bluebird. "You see, I didn't start until she caught up with me. She is almost here."

At that a happy sigh ran through the group of little people gathered around Winesome. It was good to know that Spring was so close at hand.

GOOD FORM

By Mrs. Cornelius Beeckman.
SEND THE FLOWERS!

I HAVE in the past few years derived much useful knowledge from your daily contributions—now may I ask you a very few questions myself?

1. B. and I have been aging quite a lot of each other, but because he is still at college we think it best not to see each other so often. I see him quite often but we are in the company of others now. B.'s mother, whom I have had the pleasure of meeting, has a very serious operation. Now may I, without seeming too interested in said young man and family, send a basket of flowers?

2. Should a card with "a very sincere wish for your speedy recovery," be enclosed.

3. Is my stationery correct? I did not care for the very combination inside the envelope cover.

4. Will you suggest any corrections in my letter? H. M. W.

I NOW most appreciatively to your kind words concerning my column. I am so glad you like it.

1. Most enthusiastically I advise you to send some flowers to the mother of the young man. You need not feel that she will misinterpret such pleasant thoughtfulness as this. She will, of course, be very much touched by your generous plan for her happiness. No well-bred person would misconstrue this sending of flowers to carry a message of good wishes, especially to one in the hospital.

I do not advise that you send a basket of flowers—a basket is too difficult to take care of in a hospital. One should send flowers as to the kind of flowers one sends to a hospital; they should be easy to take care of, they should be of not too heavy colors, and by no means should they have much fragrance.

2. Yes, enclose your card with the flowers, and write on it the very fine message that you yourself have suggested.

3. I like the letter paper itself very much. I am very fond of white paper, as you know, and I am very fond of a generous size paper. Especially with the rather large handwriting that you have, you use the size well and space your pages well. I agree with you that the lining of the envelope is altogether too bizarre. Modernistic isn't it?

4. I recommend that you put the name of the city and even have sealer attachments. It is a quick and easy job to run them up and down the rows of growing vegetables. They cultivate a much wider space with one motion than can be done with a hoe.

In the small garden patch tools are all that are needed, a hoe, hand weeder, garden rakes, and a trowel. It is an excellent plan to be forehanded and have the tools are in good condition before actual gardening starts. Oil the wheel hoe, polish the various attachments that may have become rusty and give them a coating of oil or grease of some kind.

Order extra trowels, and hand weeder so that if one becomes lost another will be available. Start weeding early. It is easier to kill weeds in their infancy than in their maturity. Stir the soil when ever a crust forms, particularly after a rain, as soon as it has dried sufficiently.

Every garden should be cultivated at least once a week during the growing season and often more frequently. With an early start so that weeds cannot gain a hold it is a light task and merely pleasant and healthful exercise. Hand weeder attached to long handles are convenient for reaching over rows. See that the hoe is in good condition and repair any leaks. Good irrigation in dry weather is one of the necessary garden tasks.

Washing Corsets.

Spread the corsets out flat on the kitchen table, removing the laces, but not the bones. Scrub with a brush and warm, soapy water. Rinse quickly in warm water and dry in the sun in an airy place, either spread out flat or hanging straight from the line. They should dry rapidly to prevent rusting.

SPRING SUGGESTIONS For the
AMATEUR GARDENER

(Tenth of a series on home gardening prepared by Shaw's Garden experts.)

AFTER THE SEED ARE SOWN.

AFTER the seed are all sown sand is sieved over the rows. If some sand has been set aside to dry, it will run through the sieve very easily. The deeper rows containing the large seed should receive a heavier covering than the small seed in the shallow rows. After the seed are all covered the flat is watered and then a pane of glass or a piece of paper or both are placed over the box. Moisture will accumulate on the glass and should be removed each morning. If the glass is carefully removed from the pot and held by one corner, the water will run off quickly. If the glass is carelessly removed the large drops of water will splash fine seed in all directions. When the seed begin germinating the glass or paper should be raised slightly at one side to admit air, and after the seedlings begin pushing through, the box should be uncovered. A great many seedlings will be lost if the cover is left on too long. The close atmosphere under the cover is ideal for the spread of fungous growths.

In the last few years various preparations have been placed on the market that will check and prevent fungous diseases associated with germinating seedlings. They may be used either dry or in liquid form.

Get Garden Tools Ready

THERE are four reasons for cultivation: To kill weeds, to preserve soil moisture, to aerate the soil so the bacteria in the soil may do their work, and to improve the appearance of the garden. There are two ways of accomplishing cultivation, hand tools and wheel tools. For a garden of any extent wheel tools are the easiest to manipulate and the most expeditious method. Wheel hoes, either single or double wheels, with the great variety of attachments that go with them make gardening a comparatively light task.

These wheel tools weed, stir the soil, mark rows, and even have sealer attachments. It is a quick and easy job to run them up and down the rows of growing vegetables. They cultivate a much wider space with one motion than can be done with a hoe.

In the small garden patch tools are all that are needed, a hoe, hand weeder, garden rakes, and a trowel. ## Purses Will Be Lighter in Color

WITH the black bag holding the attention of the moment, it is asserted that lighter colors will arrive with a following. Gray, a color assured of a following, and the various beige and lighter shades of brown tones, will prevail. Navy blue in leathers also looms upon the spring horizon. Considerable diversity is offered in bags, ranging from the envelope to the armstrap model. Cartier fastens a bag with a tortoise shell bar on a gold chain in an interesting manner, and square rings of shell attach the strap.

In ornamentation, marcasite still flourishes and is especially good with gray. Rhinestones and enamel play a leading role, and plaques the edges of the bag or purse with silver or gold leather continue.

For the tailored bag or purse, pigskin, crocodile, box calf, moccasin and reindeer are fashionable. In evening models, the square envelope is a prevailing style. An effective evening bag, four inches square, is shown. This is made of gold and silver sequins, has a silver chain handle, and contains mirror and change purse.

THE WAY —OF— A WOMAN

—By—
Marguerite Mooers Marshall

THE GIFT OF GAB.
"I CAN do twice as much work at home as at the office," a woman protested to us the other day, "because in the office I have to listen to all the troubles of the men."

It is just the other way, around our office. Three young women are expected to listen in to something like 50 garrulous gentlemen. We ourselves are not much bothered. We give an excellent imitation of the fretful porcupine. But the charming blonde whose desk is opposite ours labors under the most disagreeable of a naturally sympathetic disposition and of seven years' experience as a social service worker who just had to be nice to everybody with a story to tell. Consequently, she's IT, when any inquisitive male wants to describe what he had to eat the night before, or what a great piece of work he's just pulled off, or what the grandchildren said. She, too, like the young man who protested against the volubility of office females, has to do much of her work at home, in self-defense.

OUR considered opinion is that there's no sex in gab—it's the gift, worse luck, of most men and most women. Gab also is one of those things that it is better to give than to receive. Why MUST nearly every one do so darned much talking about nothing? What the world needs is more and better gab!

GOOD talk is, of course, much more interesting than doing one's work. We'll stop work any day to hear any man's really new and witty story, or the really clever achievements of his offspring, or a really interesting piece of gossip. We can't imagine ever doing any work, if as charming and amusing a talker as Sir Harry Lauder were about. We heard him once more at the theater the other night, and if he had been talking Choctaw instead of broad Scotch, the quick set of his eyes, the gleam of his nose and the set of broad shoulders would have made his "line" worth listening to. And once we interviewed him about that comparatively dull theme, Tariff. We've done many an interview, but we've never heard one so interesting as his. We've forgotten some of Sir Harry's amusing comments—as for instance:

"The edition of the bank book is too limited. Ever-r-r-a man should have his copy. I should keep it for private circulation."

"The check book's too full o' readin' matter. Folk mak' it their pocket library."

"The bank book should be the foundation of the family library. On ever-r-r-a page there should be something 'nicer than on the page before.'"

"Simmer down! Simmer down! That's a var-r-r-a guid motto for ever-r-r-a body!"

YES, amusing talk—amusing in matter or manner or both—is one of life's compensations. But all this dreary detailed autobiography—what somebody ate or wore, what sort of golf he played, what "I said and she said"—y-e gods, how desperate it drives those of us with work to do!

The conversation complex is, so far as we have observed, ineradicable. The talkers will talk, and the pretty-mannered will perforce listen. But downtown, anyway, no woman has to be pretty-mannered.

When a Garrulous Girl—or Gentleman—approaches your desk, ready to fix you with a glittering eye like the Ancient Mariner's and with a line of conversation as lengthy as his, you can refuse to catch the eye and plunge full bottom fire into work. When the discouraged G. G. chirps, "Are you busy?" you can come back, monosyllabically, "Yes." When the burble nevertheless bursts forth, you can rattle your typewriter furiously, and remark, between compressed lips, that you're catching a train. When everything else fails, you can BITE!

And you won't be the least bit popular—but the G. G.'s will pick master victims.

SONGS OF THE SKIRT.

Thirty Happy Boys Begin Their Four Years Course in Ford Trade School

They Are to Learn How to Live to Fullest Capacity Through Producing the Essentials of Life.

IT would be difficult to find 30 more contented boys than those whose education has just begun in Henry Ford's Wayside Inn Trade School in the quiet New England village of Sudbury, Mass. The boys have been under the care of the State Department of Public Welfare and have been living with private families under State supervision. They are described as "normal boys" and range in age from 14 to 16.

Their home for the next four years will be in the old Buckley House colonial mansion, which also houses the classrooms, on the Boston Post road, one of the distinguished structures in this part of the State.

When the boys began arriving five days ago, many of them saw one another for the first time. Indeed, the instructors who are to team them, Louis Mac Kael, in electrical subjects; Lawrence O'Connell, in academic themes; Miss Virginia Paul, in domestic science; and Russell N. Hyde, the director of the institution, met for the first time also.

WHEN the school was formally opened, there were no "exercises." Mr. Hyde merely received the youngsters as they entered, told them what the objects of the institution were and then introduced them to the two masters and Mrs. Ernest Putnam, the matron and counselor. Earle J. Boyer, superintendent of the Ford estate here, also was present.

The object of the school, as outlined by Mr. Boyer, is "to develop men well rounded out with the full capacity of enjoying life through producing the essentials of life."

It is believed the school is original in many ways and has been established by Henry Ford after 12 years of successful operation of the trade school at the Ford plant in Detroit. During their term in the school here, the boys will remain at the mansion the year round. The curriculum arranged for them includes the growing and making of things. Instruction will be given to them in the preparation of food, from the sowing of the seed to table service of the finished product. They also will be taught to do their own housework.

AAMPLE opportunity will be given the boys to see what they can do in several trades, those of baker, mechanic, carpenter, farmer, electrician, textile worker and others. Actual wages will be paid to them, though the amount is not disclosed. However, Mr. Boyer said, the wage will be sufficient to enable the recipients to clothe themselves.

From time to time, the boys will be taken to visit the various Ford plants, so that they may become familiar with manufacturing at first hand.

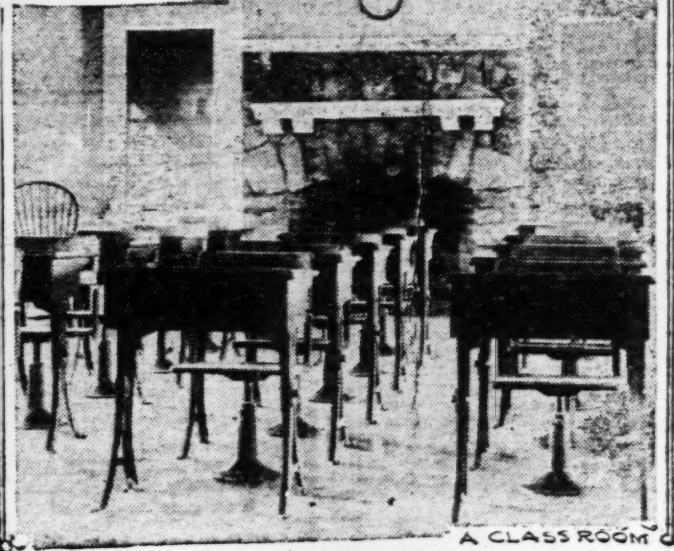

It is Mr. Ford's idea that these boys should be instructed in industry as well as from books, in order that they may gain a correct perspective of life. When their four-year course is ended, they may, if they wish, continue their studies in the Henry Ford Technical School in Detroit.

When the boys leave Wayside Inn, they will have received academic instruction equivalent to that given in ordinary high schools. In addition, of course, to the manual training which is so much a part of the course.

Nothing has been overlooked in this technical training. In fact, when it comes to teaching them textile making, they will begin with the shearing of the sheep and follow the wool through the loom to the finished cloth. A sawmill will be the beginning of the course in wood working.

While Henry Ford has practically "adopted" these 30 boys, they will be under State supervision throughout their schooling. Incidentally, they will not be asked to wear any sort of uniform, but the clothes of every day.

Tablecloths will keep fresh much longer if folded neatly after each using.

Easily Identified.

Rubbers and golf shoes should always be marked in ink inside with the owner's name. Then they are always easily found in a public place or party. This precaution is very necessary with children's school rubbers and golf shoes.

Let Baby Crawl.

Should baby crawl? By all means, says Emil Rath, dean of the normal college of the American Gymnastic Union. There is nothing better to develop the muscles of the shoulder, chest and back, he says.

THE TRUTH ABOUT THE

THERE is a play on in New York about the most selfish, self-expressing woman ever drawn by playwright! It is a tremendous lesson, from beginning to end. The heroine never gives one thought except to herself—what her needs are—physical and mental—what her reactions are—what she desires—what her troubles are. All the rest of the characters also seem to be under the spell of this colossal egotism of hers. She is the creature they all desire and make sacrifices for.

Why? Because she happens to be an exponent of one of the strongest component parts of "It," utter and absolute unselfconsciousness. She is not aware she is a selfish animal, degrading and sapping all males with whom she comes in contact. She thinks she is an angel, and is enabled from her belief in this idea, to put it over as true, upon her companions! She wants perfectly natural things—normal things—love—marriage—children—peace and devotion. But these must be given at the cost, if necessary, of everyone's else sacrifice—as though she were the only important factor in the universe. And it is this point which is such a lesson! It is this point which teaches us to realize the incredible smallness of ourselves—and how little each one of us really matters beyond our fellows.

It is frightful arrogance for you, Mary, or you, James, to imagine that you have a right to impose your whims and emotions upon others and expect them eternally to minister to you. Have you ever considered what they want—and really deserve?

Do try sometimes to look your

own character straight in the face. If you do, you will be surprised to observe how selfish you are, and how little really interests you beyond yourself! Then try to be just and tell yourself that those around you have rights, too, and that you are only getting by with it because you are more ruthless. But none of these odious qualities lasts—and Fate has an inexorable reckoning waiting for you—in her law of the Boomerang.

Kitchen Kinks

An old newspaper will clean and polish windows with a minimum of effort. Just crumple a couple of sheets and rub the pane.

Left-over peas and cold boiled potatoes make a good salad. Dice the potatoes, mix the two with mayonnaise dressing and serve on lettuce leaves.

Try a handful of raisins in your waffle batter.

When cleaning meat, fowl or fish, dip your fingers first in salt to prevent the article of food from slipping.

Place the remaining pimientos in a cup and cover with paraffin as you would jelly. They will keep indefinitely.

Wash parsley in hot water instead of cold and it will be easier to cut.

Never make tea with water that has been standing in the tea kettle.

A good idea for the beginning Laddergrammer is to list the various words which differ from idea by a single letter, and then to choose for the second rung the one that seems to head most directly for the word at the bottom. ## Parents Advised To Visit Schools

THE importance of publicity in school affairs was stressed by two speakers before superintendents attending the National Education Association convention at Boston.

Citizens are entitled to full information about their schools, said Willard H. Bacon, Superintendent of Schools at Westbury, R. I. The typical report card, he declared, is lacking in real information. It abounds in lists of subjects but for real information, he said, parents must go to the school, the principal, the teacher or the child. The majority of parents, he added, do not do this unless they believe an injustice has been done. He urged that the schools take the initiative in giving parents real information of their children's work in a personal way.

"The best means," he said, "of keeping the public informed are the public press, especially the small local newspapers; the annual report, which in the smaller towns goes into many houses; special bulletins mimeographed or printed and sent to the parents by the pupils; public addresses and demonstrations, exhibits, window displays and posters and teachers who are so interested in their work that they enthrall all of their friends."

In this case, Idealist Laddergramming, though, requires a man of action, so hop to it. In changing idea to list, stick to useful or familiar words, and remember not to substitute more than one letter at a time as you climb down the rungs. Maybe you can find an easier way than we did; in any case, you'll have a chance next Monday to compare your result with ours.

THE CANARY MURDER CASE

By S. S. VAN DINE AUTHOR OF THE BENSON MURDER CASE

CHAPTER LII

AFTER the short silence, during which the three of them remained speechless, the same feminine voice said in a loud, distinct tone: "No, nothing is the matter. I'm sorry. . . . Everything is all right. . . . Please go home, and don't worry."

The needle had come to the end of the record. There was a slight click, and the automatic device shut off the motor. The almost terrifying silence that followed was broken by a sardonic chuckle from Vance.

"Well, old dear," he remarked languidly, as he stroked back his hair, "so much for your inevitable facts."

There came a loud knocking on the door and the officer on duty outside looked in with a startled expression.

"It's all right," Markham informed him in a husky voice. "I'll call you when I want you."

Vance lay down on theavenport and took out another cigarette. Having lighted it, he stretched his arms far over his head and extended his legs, like a man in whom a powerful physical tension had suddenly relaxed.

"Don't my soul, Markham, we've all been babes in the woods," he drawled. "An incontrovertible alibi—my word! If the law supposes that as Mr. Bumble said, 'Sammy, my very own brother a little while ago, I wish to admit it, but it's you and I who've been the unutterable asses.'"

Markham had been standing by the instrument like a man dazed, his eyes riveted hypnotically on the telltale record. Slowly he came into the room and threw himself wearily into a chair.

"These precious facts of yours," continued Vance, "stripped of their carefully disguised appearance, what are they?—Spotswoode prepared a photograph record—a simple enough task. Every one makes 'em nowadays.'"

"Yes, he told me he had a workshop at his home on Long Island where he tinkered a bit."

"He really didn't need it, I know. But it facilitated things, no doubt. The voice on the record is merely his own in falsetto—better for the purpose than a woman's, for it's stronger and more penetrating."

"As for the label, he simply soaked it off of an ordinary record, and pasted it on his own. He brought the lady several new records that night, and concealed this one among the others."

"After the theater he enacted his gruesome little drama and then carefully set the stage so that the police would think it was a typical burglar's performance. When this had been done, he placed the record on the machine, set it going, and calmly walked out. He had placed the prayer-rug and bronze bowl on the impression that the photograph was rarely used."

"And the precaution worked, for no one thought of looking into it. Why should they? Then he asked Jessup to call a taxicab—everything quite natural, I see. While he was waiting for the car the needle reached the recorded screams. They were heard plainly: it was night, and the sounds carried distinctly. Moreover, being filtered through a wooden door, their phonographic timbre was well disguised. And, if you'll note, the enclosed horn is directed toward the door, not three feet away."

"But the synchronization of his questions and the answers on the record. . . . The simplest part of it. You remember Jessup told us that Spotswoode was standing with one arm on the switchboard when the screams were heard."

"He merely had his eye on his wrist-watch. The moment he heard the cry, he calculated the intermission on the record, and put his question to the imaginary lady at just the right moment to receive the record's response."

"It was all carefully figured out beforehand, he no doubt rehearsed it in his laboratory. It was deuced simple, and practically proof against failure. The record is a large one—12-inch diameter. I should say—and it requires about five minutes for the needle to traverse it."

"By putting the screams at the end, he allowed himself ample time to get out and order a taxicab. When the car at last came, he rode direct to the Stuyvesant club, where he met Judge Redfern and played poker till 2. It is hard to meet the Judge, rest assured he would have impressed his presence on some one else so as to have established an alibi. Markham shook his head gravely.

"Good God! No wonder he impertinently me on every possible occasion to let him visit this apartment again. Such a damning piece of evidence as that record must have kept him awake at night."

"Still, I rather fancy that if I hadn't discovered it, he would have succeeded in getting possession of it as soon as your sergeant-de-ville was removed."

"It was ahimsa! It was unexpected! I had no idea of it. I don't know if I worried him much. He would have been on hand when the Canary's aunt took possession, and the retrieving of the record would have been comparatively easy. Of course, the record constituted a hazard, but Spotswoode isn't a thingy who'd shy at a low bunker of that kind. No, the thing was planned scientifically enough; he was defeated by sheer accident."

"And Skel?"

"He was another unfortunate circumstance. He was hiding in the closet there when Spotswoode and the lady came in at 11. It was Spotswoode whom he saw strange his erstwhile amorous and rifle the apartment."

"Then, when Spotswoode went out, he came forth from hiding. He was probably looking down at the girl when the photograph emitted its blood-chilling wails. . . . My word! Fancy being in a cold funk, gazing at a murdered woman, and then hearing piercing screams behind you! It was a bit too much even for the hardened Tony."

"I don't wonder he forgot all the caution and put his hand on the table to steady himself. . . . And then came Spotswoode's voice through the door, and the record's answer. This must have puzzled Skel. I imagine he thought for a moment he'd lost his reason."

"But pretty soon the significance of it dawned on him; and I can see him grinning to himself. Obviously he knew who the murderer was—would not have been in keeping with his character had he failed to learn the identities of the Canary's admirers."

"And now there had fallen into his lap, like manna from heaven, the most perfect opportunity for blackmail that any such charming young gentleman could desire. He doubtless indulged himself with rosy visions of a life of opulence and ease at Spotswoode's expense. When Cleaver phoned a few minutes later, he merely said the lady was out, and then set to work planning his own departure."

"But I don't see why he didn't take the record with him."

"And remove from the scene of the crime the one piece of unanswerable evidence? Bad idea. Spotswoode would simply have denied all knowledge of it, and accused the blackmailer of a plot."

"Oh, no. Skel's only course was to leave it, and apply for an enormous settlement from Spotswoode at once. And I imagine that's what he did. Spotswoode no doubt gave him something like that account and promised him the rest anon, looting in the meantime to retrieve the record."

"When he failed to pay, Skel phoned up and threatened to tell everything, thinking to spur Spotswoode to action. . . . Well, he spurred him—but not the action desired. Spotswoode probably met him by appointment last Saturday night, ostensibly to hand over the money, but, instead, throttled the chap. Quite in keeping with his nature, don't you know. . . . Stout fella, Spotswoode."

"The whole thing, I think, is amazing."

"I shouldn't say that, now. Spotswoode had an unpleasant task to perform, and he set about it in a cool, logical, forthright, business-like manner. He had decided that his little Canary must die for his peace of mind; she'd probably made herself most annoying. So he arranged the date, like any judge passing sentence on a prisoner at the bar—and then proceeded to fabricate an alibi."

"Being something of a mechanic, he arranged a mechanical alibi. The device he chose was simple and obvious enough—no tortuousities or complications. And it would have succeeded but for what the insurance companies piously call an act of God."

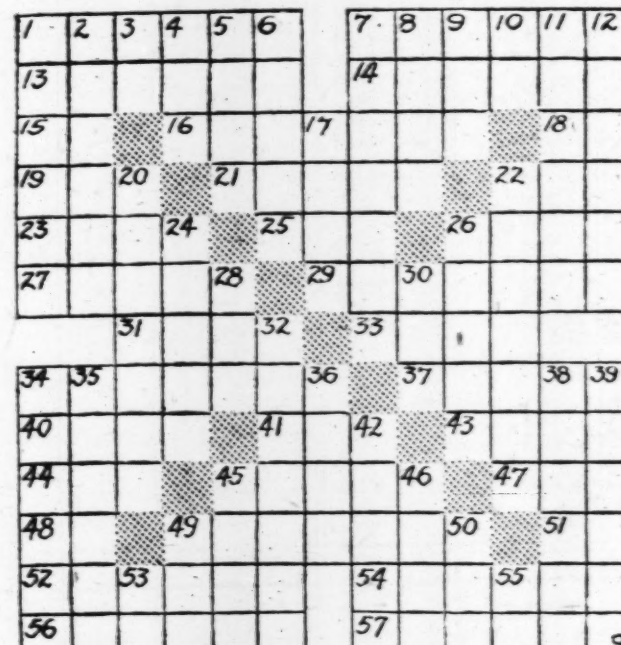

"No one can foresee accident, Markham; they wouldn't be accidental if one could. But Spotswoode certainly took every precaution that was humanly possible. I never occurred to him that you would thwart his every effort to return here and confiscate the record; and he couldn't anticipate my taste in music, nor know that I would seek solace in the tonart."

"Furthermore, when one calls on a lady, one doesn't expect that another suitor is going to hide himself in the clothes press. It isn't done, don't you know. . . . All in all, the poor Johnny was beaten by a run of abominable luck."

Dispatch.
CHICAGO, March 24.—
W. Stewart, head of the Old Co. of Indiana, purchased $200,000 of Liberty bonds in January, 1924, about the Republican party's deposit with the proceeds of bonds from the $2,000,000 loan fund accumulated by Continental Trading Co.
The Senate Transport Committee made this discovery while searching for evidence Stewart had made a special deposit, or a special deposit party bonds amounting to after the termination of the financial deal, to which he partly.

William H. Gilman, cashier of the Continental Commercial National Bank, responded to a subpoena by Stewart's bank account. A subcommittee of the Senate committee on the subject of the 1921-22-23, 1924, the Stewart open a special with a deposit of $200,000, was not opened under his
the witness replied.
"Do you know whether account was opened for his other name?" "It was not our knowledge."
"Have you any record of deposits of $200,000 in Liberty bonds by or for Mr. Stewart?" "We have not."
The witness said, however,
Jan. 28, 1922, Stewart deposited for the purchase of $200,000 worth of Liberty bonds, know nothing about the
of the purchase.

Backfire Against Dem-Testimony that there was between the late Fred W.
National Republican Tr-
and Wilbur C. Marsh, the Democratic treasurer as ag-net to make a report to of the contributions receiving 1922 was given today
G. Hipsley, and A. V. Leonard, secretaries to Upham.

Apparently this was the
of a backfire against the cratic party in the oil sec-Upham and Leonard were Upham and Marsh were de-small friends despite their differences. Upham told October, 1923, they said, had confided he expected give some large contribution to the existing Democrit, and did not want them come public.
Consequently Upham filed part of Republican contributions. The contributions act, as it then was, not require the filing of reports.

Both Hipsley and Leonard previously appeared before the committee in Washington, made no mention of this understanding.
Asked why they had failed to say he didn't tell "he wasn't asked" and Leonard "had forgotten about it minded by Hipsley."
"Are you quite sure?" asked Nye of Leonard.
Continuity is not the reason agreement between your Hipsley, to give testimony tending to discredit the Democratic Committee in that the Republican Committee had been discredited.
"No," the witness answered.
"Didn't it seem strange that the treasurer of the party should be making confidential?" Nye asked.
"Not especially."
Not Against the Le-
"Was there a general rejoicing in your office wouldn't be necessary to 1922 donations to the Republican Committee?" "Well, it was a report of Democratic contributions, we would be obliged to do the same thing. Then there was matter that both committees made their contributions known."
